Making Study of Catskill Region

Bell Wants Commission Relocated Here

NEW YORK CITY Assemblyman H. Clark Bell has suggested that the newly formed Temporary State Commission on the Catskills locate its offices here in Kingston.

Bell points out that the city is centrally located and easily accessible to the commission members in that it is located off the Thruway and Rt. 28.

Other members come from Westchester, Cooperstown New York City and points between.

The commission was created by the Legislature in 1971 and was directed to make a study of the Catskill region—similar to one made on the Adirondacks—and to make a comprehensive report on its future.

At a recent New York meeting, Chairman Kirby Peake was authorized to set up an office, file appropriate papers, and hire an administrative staff. The agency has a working capital of $210,000.

Bell, who also recommended Harold E. Finkle to the commission said he felt that the social pressure on the Catskills is greater than that on the Adirondacks because 70 per cent of the state's population is located in Ulster and counties to the south.

"People want recreation," he said. "We have the forest preserve but we need it accessible for people to come." He indicated that the work of the commission will take about five years.

A Kingston stock broker, Finkle has been active in civic affairs locally for many years.

Since 1935 he has been an active and ardent fisherman and hunter and his participation has been mainly in the Catskills although he has had experience in Canada and the Adirondacks.

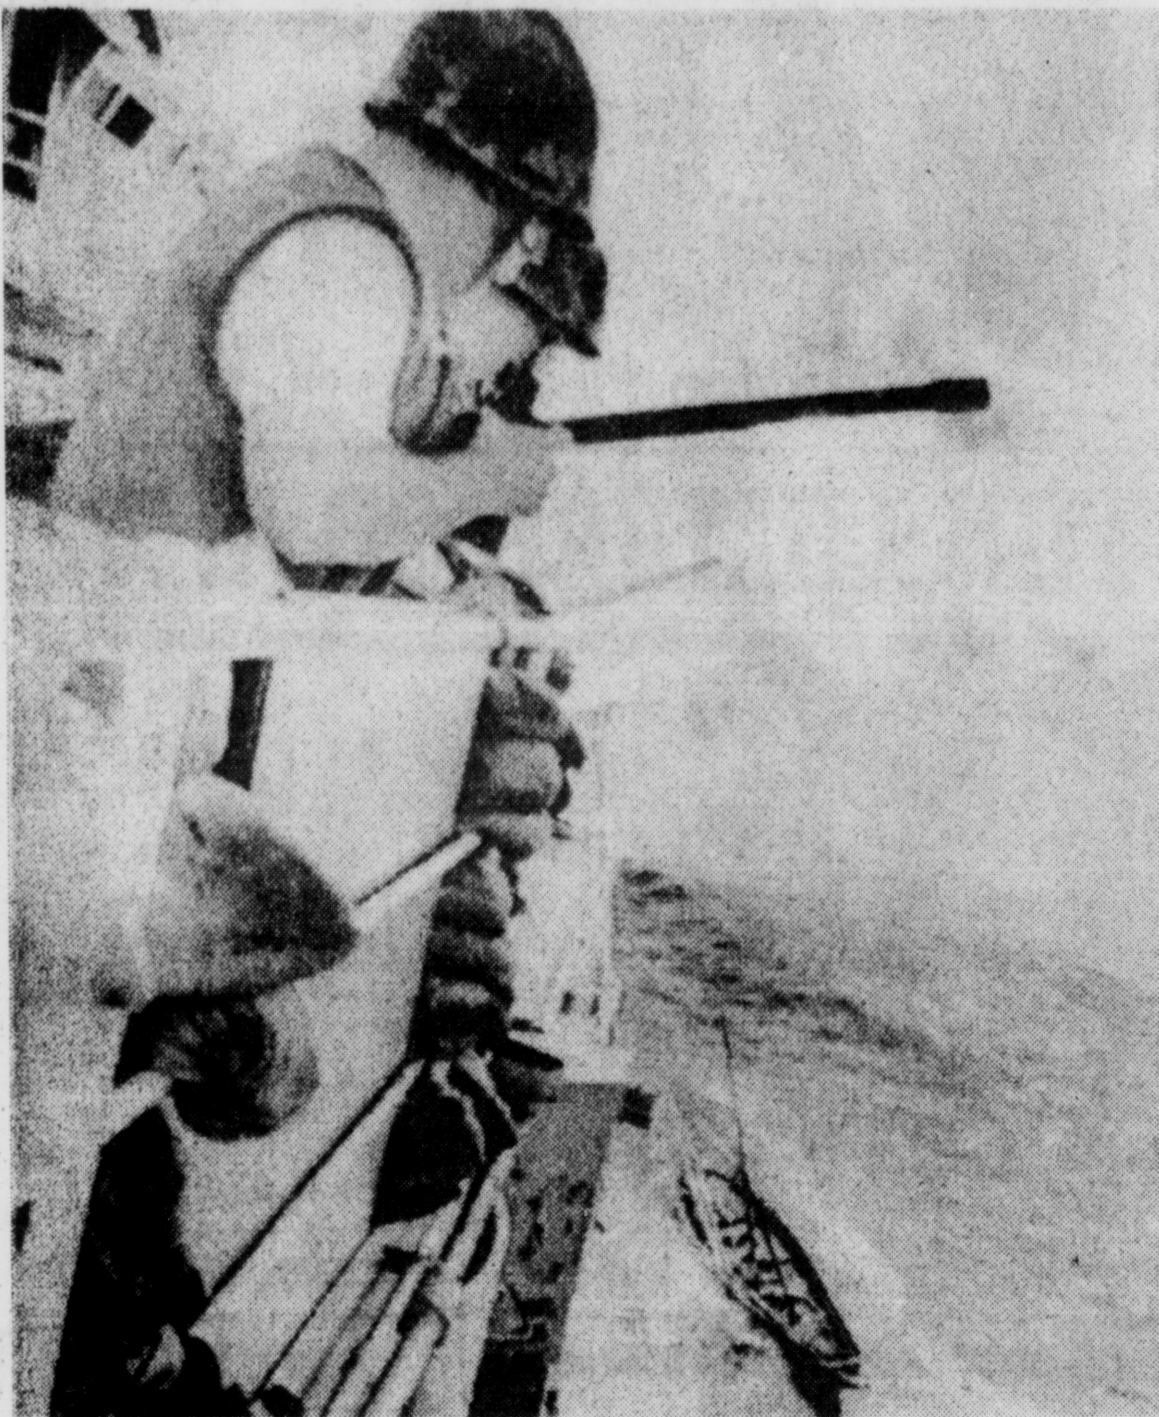

He served two terms as president of the Hurley Rod and Gun Club and he is presently a member of the Twitchell Creek Gun Club in the Adirondacks.

Conservation has always been his avocation and he has gleaned substantial knowledge of the Catskills over the years having literally walked hundreds of miles through them.

During the depression years, Finkle joined the Civilian Conservation Corps and under the supervision of trained conservation personnel was employed in various phases of forestry, building trails through wooded areas and campsite construction.

As crew foreman of 25 members, Finkle was responsible for the building of fire trails, fire towers in Greene and Ulster Counties and campsites at North Lake and Devil's Tombstone.

Last of Red Commandos Driven From Kontum

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese troops drove the last remnants of a North Vietnamese commando force out of Kontum city in the Central Highlands of South Vietnam today after fighting them inside the besieged provincial capital since May 26, military spokesmen said.

They said that 2,000 government infantrymen backed by U.S. helicopter gunships and South Vietnamese artillery overran a military hospital and a tank compound which were the last two Communist strong points inside the city.

Two ground battalions seized the hospital during the morning in a pincer attack and two other battalions captured the tank base in a similar maneuver during the afternoon, a spokesman in the Central Highlands said. Kontum is 260 miles north of Saigon.

The South Vietnamese command in Saigon said that 166 Communist soldiers were killed in the Kontum fighting—112 at the hospital and 54 at the tank base.

The command reported only one South Vietnamese soldier was killed and one wounded. Questioned about the low government losses, a command spokesman said: "That's very amazing. I've been asking myself why also."

The North Vietnamese commandos pushed into Kontum on May 26, seizing the hospital, the tank compound and a Roman Catholic hospital. Government troops recaptured the church last Sunday.

The government command has reported a total of 2,397 North Vietnamese troops killed in the Kontum fighting against Saigon losses of 205 slain and 620 wounded. At the time the North Vietnamese moved into Kontum, the government said a maximum of 350 men were involved.

A command spokesman said the majority of the North Vietnamese slain today were fleeing the city.

"They just started running when we moved in," the spokesman said. "We killed them as they were running away."

It was the second major government victory in two days. Monday South Vietnamese troops, acting on intelligence supplied by a Viet Cong deserter, routed Communist forces from the district capital of Phu My.

Radio Hanoi claimed two American Phantom fighter bombers were shot down today over North Vietnam. The U.S. Command, as usual, declined to comment on the claim.

UPI correspondent Brian

Dewhurst reported from Da Nang that U.S. Marine, Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers flew out today virtually in relays for stepped-up strikes into North and South Vietnam. The fighter-bomber crews took advantage of clearing weather after rain and clouds Monday limited visual bombing and forced them to use less reliable radar to locate targets.

Communist gunners Monday

fired 79 rounds of artillery into the provincial capital of An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon, spokesmen said. It was far fewer than the hundreds and thousands of rounds a day that hit the embattled city last month. Four Communists were killed and South Vietnamese casualties were reported light in sporadic fighting around An Loc.

Weapons Development Must Be Continued...Laird

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird says Congress can safely approve the Moscow arms-limitation accords only if the United States continues weapons development and modernization.

"If we stand still, this would be a grave mistake," Laird told two congressional committees Monday.

"This is an interim freeze on numbers only," the secretary said, adding that limits on weapons modernization and development are possible in the followup negotiations expected to continue through the next five years.

"The way to succeed in the negotiations is to be strong when you enter them," Laird said.

Laird testified Monday before Appropriations committees of the House and Senate and planned closed sessions today with the two Armed Services panels.

As the negotiations continue, he said, development of such weapons as the B1 bomber, Trident submarine and site defenses for Minuteman missile launchers must not stop.

Laird said the only budget savings from the arms-limitation agreement will be from unbuilt defensive antiballistic missiles—ABMs—a total of about $5 billion over the next five years.

While the offensive arms agreement freezes Russia with 1,618 ICBMs—long-range missiles—against 1,054 for the United States and with more Soviet than American submarines and submarine missile launchers, the United States retains technical superiority in deployment, Laird said.

Laird asked Congress Monday to increase a limitation on expenditures for military assistance for American allies in Southeast Asia from $2.5 billion to $2.7 billion for the current fiscal year ending June 30.

He said the month-old North Vietnamese offensive will cost the United States an extra $3.3 billion if continued through September and $5 billion through December to keep up air and naval operations.

McGovern Predicts Victories In California, Three States

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California holds its crucial Democratic presidential primary today with Sen. George McGovern the strong favorite to capture the state's 271 delegates and take a big step toward winning the Democratic nomination.

New Jersey, New Mexico and South Dakota also are holding presidential primaries. The South Dakota Democrat expects to take a majority of the 144 delegates in those states.

"I'm going to predict here this afternoon we'll win all four of the primaries," McGovern told several thousand cheering supporters in Albuquerque, N.M., Monday before flying to Houston, Tex., to confer with Democratic governors.

Success in the four primaries could shoot McGovern's delegate total past the 850 mark—1,509 are needed to nominate—and virtually end Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's hopes of winning the Democratic nomination for the second time.

In the presidential primaries, this is the situation:

CALIFORNIA — All 271 delegates will go to the top man in the statewide Democratic presidential preference vote. Besides McGovern and Humphrey, six other candidates are on the ballot and a write-in campaign could put Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace into third place.

Sen. McGovern visits the nation's Democratic governors. Story on page 7.

Out-financed and out-organized in the nation's biggest state, Humphrey based his campaign on sharp criticism of McGovern's proposal for a $32 billion defense spending cut, a $1,000 "income supplement" for everyone to replace the welfare system and, in the closing days, his civil rights record.

McGovern, hitting Humphrey hard for supporting U. S. involvement in Vietnam while vice president, spent most of the campaign defending his proposals while pledging to create full employment and warning "the American people will not stand for a rerun in 1972 of the choice they had in 1968."

Besides McGovern, Humphrey and Yorty, the ballot lists Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and Henry M. Jackson, New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, Rep. Shirley Chisholm and former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who threw his support to McGovern.

NEW JERSEY — Rep. Chisholm and former Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina are the only entrants in the presidential preference contest. The real race is for 109 delegates, seven being elected at large and the rest divided among the state's 21 counties.

Humphrey, with support from organized labor and party regulars, was rated the early favorite. McGovern, however, out-organized and far outspent him, and aides predicted the South Dakota senator might capture up to two-thirds of the delegates.

NEW MEXICO — McGovern was the only contender to pay a campaign visit, and some politicians in the state said that might give him the victory in the state's first presidential primary.

SOUTH DAKOTA — McGovern's slate is unopposed for the state's 17 delegates.

Dye Tells Kingston Town Board

$1 Million County Welfare Deficit

By JON POWERS

SAWKILL — Ulster County Legislator Douglas V. Dye (R-Dist. 2) revealed Monday night that the County Legislature's Social Services Department is likely to overspend its welfare budget by more than $1 million this year.

Dye disclosed those figures while proposing that the county also assume financial responsibility for the home relief programs now paid for by individual townships. He spoke at Monday night's meeting of the Kingston Town Board, at the invitation of supervisor Kenneth Whispell, who has also proposed a county takeover of the home relief program.

While outlining the operations of the county's welfare department, Dye revealed that the four branches of the Social Services Department will probably finish the year some $1,350,000 in the red.

Basing his figures on welfare department expenditures for the first four months of this year, Dye estimated that the Aid to Dependent Children program will be some $987,000 over its 1972 budget. He added that aid to disabled persons will cost some $175,000 more than anticipated; emergency aid to families will overshoot its budget by an estimated $130,000 and the county home relief program will cost an extra $60,000.

Dye, who is chairman of the Social Services Committee of the Ulster County Legislature, placed part of the blame on welfare, Dye said he did not think that accepting the responsibility for the local home relief program would place additional undue financial hardships on the county. He estimated that the entire home relief program, currently financed by the 20 townships in Ulster County, will cost about $72,000 this year.

These costs, however, do threaten the stability of individual town budgets, particularly in Kingston, Hurley and Saugerties, and it is partially for that reason that Whispell has proposed a complete county takeover of all welfare costs. Whispell also contends that the towns should not have to pay the welfare costs as long as the county is the only agency that is empowered to decide who is eligible for assistance.

Dye said he will propose, probably at the July meeting of the county legislature, that the county assume complete responsibility for the home relief program. But he said he intends to meet with other town supervisors before filing his resolution.

He said he will also recommend, at next week's legislature meeting, that the county hire part-time special investigators to determine the eligibility of welfare claimants, and to weed out the "freeloaders."

And, Dye said he will propose that the county no longer accept state directives as mandates and that, if need be, the county take court action to establish its autonomy in local welfare cases.

468 Miners Feared Dead

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — A total of 468 coal miners are feared dead in the worst mining disaster in Rhodesia's history, a spokesman for the Wankie Colliery said today.

A major underground explosion occurred this morning at the mine about 200 miles north of Bulawayo, the spokesman said.

He said 435 Africans and 33 whites were underground in the mine at the time, and there

Rescuers were hampered by gas and by damage to the ventilation system.

The world's worst mining disaster occurred in Manchuria in 1942, when 1,549 workers were killed in the Honkeiko Colliery. The worst in the United States was on Dec. 6, 1907, when 361 died at Monongah, W. Va.

A spokesman at the Wankie Mine Hospital said only four miners had been admitted with injuries. They were four surface workers injured as a result of the underground explosion. The spokesman could not describe their injuries or say how they were caused.

There was no explanation of what caused the blast.

The Wankie Colliery, owned by the giant Anglo-American Group, produces about 3½ million tons of coal a year. It supplies all Rhodesia's coal needs.

Heart Attack is Fatal To West Shokan Driver

By WALTER S. CLARK
TOWN OF HURLEY

A 71-year-old West Shokan man was fatally stricken with a heart attack shortly before 1 p.m. Monday while driving his station wagon along Route 28A about 4½ miles north of the intersection of Route 28 in this township.

Ulster County Corner William S. Keyser of Kingston said today that examinations showed that the victim, Victor Bittermann, died of acute coronary insufficiency. The coroner ruled death was due to natural causes.

It was first believed the man's death was the result of an accident. According to an investigation by State Police Sergeant Charles O. Bundschuh and Trooper Robert M. Houst of the Hurley State Police, Bittermann was traveling north on the highway when his vehicle veered out of control, went off the west shoulder of the road and rolled down a steep embankment hitting a utility pole.

Bittermann was rushed to Benedictine Hospital. He was pronounced dead on arrival.

A car-motorcycle accident on Route 9W, Town of Ulster, at 10:45 p.m. Monday was investigated by the sheriff's department.

First Sergeant Donald Policastro said Louis J. Shorette, 29, or 38 Plattekill Drive, Mt. Marion, was driving his car north on Route RW and attempted to turn into Leggs Mill Road, when the vehicle was in collision with a motorcycle operated by 37-year-old Amos J. MacCreery of 34 West O'Reilly Street, Kingston.

MacCreery was thrown from the motorcycle. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance and treated for multiple lacerations, contusions and abrasions. Shorette was taken to Benedictine Hospital. He sustained head injuries, police said.

A report of Deputy Sheriffs Daniel Cronan and Charles Broadhead noted that before Shorette started to turn off Route 9W he signalled his intention to enter Leggs Mill Road. Ulster Hose Company 5 was at the scene.

Policastro said investigation is continuing.

Meanwhile, Leeds State Police reported three highway mishaps occurred in the Catskill area on Monday.

Cars operated by Nicholas Antonelli, 54, of Catskill, and Floyd Graham, 42, also of Catskill, were involved in a collision on Route 23 in that town at 5:30 p.m. Trooper C. L. Gross reported Antonelli was eastbound when he reportedly made a turn in front of the Graham vehicle and the crash occurred. Antonelli was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

Injured in the mishap were Graham and 24-year-old Joan Graham. They both received chest injuries, police said.

At 8:30 p.m. Renee Zwickler, 42, of Catskill, was going west on Route 23A, Town of Catskill, when her car went off the north shoulder of the road, crossed the highway and overturned. The woman sustained lacerations, bruises and abrasions, according to a report of Trooper Gross.

Leeds troopers also reported a car driven by Joan DeMarest, 17, of Palenville, was westbound on Route 23A when the driver lost control as the vehicle went off the south side of the road. She was cited by Trooper Gross for passing in a no-passing zone. The woman escaped injury.

Cahill Case in County Court

KINGSTON
Michael Francis Cahill, 43, of 157 Bruyn Avenue, Kingston, has learned that one thing usually leads to another.

State Police stopped Cahill on the Thruway in the Town of Ulster last October 26 and ticketed him for an unsafe tire. A subsequent search of his car disclosed a cardboard box containing an estimated $100,000 in decaying bills of small denomination. Cahill was also charged with possession of a switchblade knife, a felony.

Although the money got most of the attention at the time, it was the charge of possession of a dangerous weapon that brought Cahill before County Judge Raymond J. Mino Monday. Cahill, represented by attorney James Abernathy, pleaded innocent to the weapon charge and was assigned a place on the upcoming County Court docket.

Cahill, a deckhand, maintained that the money was his and that it represented his savings over a long period of time, but the cache was turned over to Internal Revenue Service while an investigation was conducted by State Police and the district attorney's office.

State Police from Hurley announced in December that the money appeared to belong to Cahill and that their investigation had been closed. Cahill reportedly sued to have the money returned to him.

Many of the bills, all from the 1950-63 series, disintegrated, and said that only about $23,500 of the money was identifiable. James Regan of Ellenville, who previously had pleaded guilty to criminal sale of a dangerous drug (heroin) in the third degree, was sentenced Monday afternoon to five years probation on the condition that he enroll in the Daytop drug rehabilitation program.

In pronouncing sentence,

Judge Mino referred to the fact that Regan had already served about a year in the Ulster County Jail.

Regan's lawyer, Francis Murray, recommended drug rehabilitation as did the Ulster County Probation Department. Regan was remanded to jail pending his assignment to the Daytop program, which usually lasts 12 to 14 months.

District Attorney Francis J. Vogt represented the people.

Saugerties Board Lists Summer Recreation Schedule

SAUGERTIES
Saugerties Parks Commissioner Gregory Mulstay has announced the summer schedules for village recreation areas.

Mulstay told the village board at Monday night's meeting that the beach will open Saturday, June 17, and all playgrounds will open on Saturday, June 24.

Classes in junior lifesaving (ages 11 to 14) and senior lifesaving (15 and older) will be held at the beach from June 26 to June 30 inclusive between the hours of 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. At the same time registration will be held for swimming instruction, which will be given at the beach from July 5 to July 28 at 10 a.m.

The board appointed Trustee Walter Keefe as liaison with the town board to discuss adoption of a joint dog control ordinance and possible joint operation of a dog pound by the village and town.

Complaints of speeding on upper Washington Avenue between 8 and 10 p.m. were referred to the Police Department for action. Board members said the problem was probably caused by baseball and softball games ending at Cantine Field during the evening hours.

Fire Commissioner Richard Underhill said that 20 Saugerties firemen had attended a seminar of firefighting held in Colonie on May 26 and 27.

The Fire Department was authorized to participate in the Centennial Celebration in Tivoli on Saturday June 10, and the C.A. Lynch Hose Company was authorized to take its truck to the parade on that date.

Police Commissioner Walter Keefe announced that Kerry Del Monte had been appointed a probationary patrolman on the village police force.

Defendant Waives Right to Jury Trial

KINGSTON
James S. Williams, 38, of Ellenville waived his right to a jury trial today when he went on trial for the murder of Mrs. Icie Williams in Ellenville on Feb. 13.

Williams told County Court Judge Raymond J. Mino that he fully understood that he was entitled to a jury trial but preferred to face the charge without a jury.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph Traficanti Jr., representing the people, moved to have prosecution witnesses removed from the court until they testified. Traficanti said that witnesses would prove Williams had shot his wife, and that he meant to do so.

Traficanti then called Wilbert James Randolph Jr., Mrs. Williams' son by a previous marriage, as the prosecution's first witness.

Career Choices Open to Grads

POUGHKEEPSIE

Where do we go from here? graduates, Dutchess students is the question being asked by college graduates about this time of year, and at Dutchess Community college the answers are almost as diverse as the 627 degree candidates.

With many of the placements assisted through John Elsoffer, college placement service, the anticipated career beginnings range from administrative positions with the Central Intelligence Agency to technical jobs with Con Edison.

Many plan to transfer to a multitude of New York State and other four-year colleges. Most have said they plan to transfer to SUNY colleges and university centers, along with local colleges Marist, Mount St. Mary and Vassar.

Despite a generally sluggish employment market for many college and university graduates, Dutchess students receiving degrees in technical career areas continue to be successful in finding employment.

Nursing graduates have accepted positions with Vassar Brothers and St. Francis Hospitals and others in contiguous counties. Business administration and retail business management students have been recruited by several large retail store chains and industrial technologies students are planning to join New York State Gas and Electric, General Electric, Schatz Federal Bearing and Stone and Webster.

And area banks, including Dutchess Bank and Trust, Marine Midland and Bankers Trust, are among those giving interviews for accounting and data processing positions.

Factfinder Listed For UCCC Talks

STONE RIDGE

A factfinder has been appointed to attempt to resolve the contract dispute between the Faculty Association at Ulster County Community College and the Ulster County Legislature's Community College Committee.

Francis X. Doherty of Troy was appointed by the Public Employees Relations Board. Normally, a factfinder is appointed to a contract dispute only after mediation has failed. It was noted, however, that the dispute and, if that fails, will move directly to fact-finding.

The first factfinding session is scheduled for Friday at 3 p.m. Spokesmen for the faculty said their negotiating committee will be in attendance, and they expect the session to last throughout the night.

An impasse in the contract talks was declared May 17 by the Community College Committee, after eight negotiating sessions between the two sides.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the Plattekill Fire House. It is expected that the town engineer will be present to answer questions about specifications of the two buildings and the sites under consideration.

The town building will include a supervisor's office, town clerk's office, storage rooms, fireproof record rooms, a large meeting hall and the highway superintendent's office. The highway department building will consist of space for town trucks and machinery. Town residents are urged to attend.

Comply or Lose State Aid

Rocky Signs School Conduct Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — School districts in the state were ordered today to "adopt regulations for governing school conduct by Jan. 1 or lose state aid."

The order was contained in a bill signed by Gov. Rockefeller without comment.

The regulations must cover the conduct of students, teachers, other staff and visitors, and include provisions for ejection, expulsion or suspension of the offender. Copies of the regulations must be submitted to State Education Department.

The bill was drafted by Assemblyman Charles D. Henderson, R-Hornell, chairman of the state commission on campus unrest, which has described high schools as "battlegrounds" among administrators, school board members, teachers, community groups and students.

The State School Boards Association opposed the bill, saying that it would, in effect, make a policeman out of every school board in the state. "A school board doesn't have any business being a policeman," said an association spokesman.

The bill is similar to a 1969 law that required colleges and universities to draft rules of conduct. Every college, complied with the law, a few under protest.

The law, incidentally, was administered in the State Education Department by Dr. Frederick M. Binder, who later resigned to become president of Whittier College, President Nixon's alma mater.

In action on other bills, Rockefeller approved those that will:

—Lower from 21 to 18 the minimum age at which a person can obtain medical, dental, health and hospital services without parental consent. The bill was passed in the legislature over fears that it would allow many young women to get abortions without informing their parents.

—Require promoters to hire a physician for any paid public gathering with a projected attendance of more than 10,000.

—Lower from 21 to 18 the minimum age at which young married couples can agree to legal separations.

The governor vetoed as "unnecessary" a bill that would create a milk marketing advisory council to work with the state agriculture commissioner on the milk marketing industry.

Rockefeller said the Agriculture Department also questioned whether the membership of the council would be unbalanced. The bill called for a nine-member council, to be made up of one consumer representative, one dairy producer, one representative of labor, one representative of supermarkets, and five milk dealers.

Lindsay Considering Deferring of Raises

NEW YORK (AP) — The Lindsay administration is considering deferring $50 million in pay increases for fire, sanitation and hospital workers, to avoid having to take the unpopular step of raising real estate taxes.

Deputy Mayor Edward K. Hamilton said Monday the city could defer payment on the new labor contracts until July 1, 1973 and draw off the capital budget, as a claim against the city, for the salaries.

Added to the $49 million in police raises which the city said last weekend could also be deferred, the latest "windfall" could obviate the need for raising $100 million in new real estate and water taxes originally planned.

Hamilton said the city had discovered it had the option of deferring the $50 million because the Pay Board in Washington had not yet acted on the wage increases.

The deputy mayor acknowledged that deferring $99 million in pay hikes would ultimately cost the city $18 million in interest. "We'd make expenditure cuts," he said, "so that the taxpayer would not have to pay."

Comptroller Abraham D.

Retirement Help

A representative of the U.S. Railroad Retirement Board will be at the New York State Employment Office, 16 Pine Grove Avenue, Kingston, Wednesday, June 14, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. He will assist the railroad worker, his wife, widow or survivors in retirement and survivor problems and answer any inquiries which they may have in connection with the Railroad Retirement and Unemployment Insurance Acts.

Beame criticized the proposal as "an unsound fiscal practice."

"I am opposed to the principle of 'borrow now, pay later,' because it costs the same taxpayers more," Beame said. "I have no choice in this particular matter, however, because it's within the purview of the mayor."

Hamilton conceded that the administration was not embracing the plan without reservations. "It's not as straightforward a technique as we'd like to use. But we will give it extremely careful attention because of the opposition of property owners to any increase in the real estate tax."

About 50 persons representing small home owners associations across the city demonstrated at City Hall Monday, carrying "red herrings" to express their concern that the negotiations were a cover-up for inevitable real estate tax increases.

JACKIE'S FIRST VISIT — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis passes under a huge bronze bust of her late husband, President John F. Kennedy, as she arrives at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. Making her first visit to the Center, Mrs. Onassis attended composer-producer Leonard Bernstein's production of "Mass," dedicated to the late President. Accompanying Mrs. Onassis is Roger Stevens, chairman of the Center's board. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Jackie Attends JFK Center, Likes Opera House, Performance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Aristotle Onassis attended a performance of Leonard Bernstein's "Mass" at the John F. Kennedy Center Monday night and, her acquaintances said, liked both the opera house and the performance.

This was the former Mrs. Kennedy's first visit to the national cultural center which bears her husband's name, and her first viewing of the Bernstein composition which she asked him to compose for the opening of the Kennedy Center last Sept. 8.

Bernstein told a reporter after the performance that Mrs. Onassis seemed to like the work, but made no specific comment.

She entered the center, as do most visitors, through the Hall of Nations, a huge corridor hung with the flags of more than 100 countries, and turned a corner—saw for the first time a six-foot-high bust of her late husband, sculptured by Robert Berks.

Mrs. Roger L. Stevens, whose husband is chairman of the board of trustees of the center and who shared a box with Mrs. Onassis, said the former Mrs. Kennedy declined to comment on the bust.

Mrs. Onassis wended her way down the stairs at the opera house and went backstage after the performance to greet some of the members of the 200-person cast.

The widow of the 35th president had been expected to appear when the center opened last September, but she declined the invitation at the last minute on grounds that her appearance would arouse intense emotional excitement among the audience.

Monday night's performance was perhaps better than those which opened the center to sell-out crowds last September. The cast was essentially the same, with direction again by Gordon Davidson, conducting by Maurice Peress and choreography by Alvin Ailey, but the score and the direction had been polished.

Mass of Hope and Peace For Robert Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 100 Kennedys, friends and followers gathered on the granite terrace at the grave of Robert F. Kennedy today to remember him with prayers, flowers and songs on the fourth anniversary of his death.

Many who came for the hour-long folk mass made their way through the early morning mist to the grave of President John F. Kennedy several hundred feet away.

The mass began with guitars and singers who sent the notes of "We Shall Overcome" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" over the somber reaches of Arlington National Cemetery across the Potomac from the federal city.

The mass was celebrated by the Rev. Albert F. Pereira, pastor of St. Luke's Roman Catholic Church in McLean, Va., the Washington suburb where Kennedy's widow and children live, and by Msgr. Geno C. Baroni, director of the National Center for Urban Affairs in Washington.

Some 15,000 people did their remembering Monday, the anniversary of the day in 1968 when he was shot down by an assassin, by climbing the grassy hillside to the grave across the Potomac from the federal city.

It was June 5 four years ago, in another presidential election year, that the New York senator was shot shortly after he was declared winner of California's presidential primary. He died the next day, June 6.

Themes of peace and hope will be reflected in the morning folk mass, the first mass to be held at the new gravesite. Finished six months ago, the site is marked with a simple white wooden cross, a shallow reflecting pool, a terrace of granite stones and a selection of Kennedy's favorite quotations etched into a marble ledge.

Praises and Death Threats Received by Angela Davis

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Angela Davis has been deluged by hundreds of congratulatory telegrams and phone calls praising her acquittal. But she also has received about 20 death threats, a spokesman said.

The 28-year-old black Communist spent Monday swimming in nearly 100-degree heat, taking a sauna bath and discussing vacation plans, spokeswoman Stephanie Allan said.

The all-white jury of seven women and five men acquitted Miss Davis Sunday of murder, kidnap and conspiracy charges stemming from a 1970 courthouse escape attempt in which a judge and three others were killed.

Relaxing at her San Jose apartment on her first day of freedom in 22 months, the tall, attractive militant said she hadn't made any firm decision about the future.

Miss Allan said the telegrams of congratulations from across the nation and throughout the world far outnumbered the hate calls and death threats.

One telegram came from San Quentin inmate Fleeta Drumgo, one of the two surviving Soledad Brothers.

Drumgo said: "Dear sister and comrade. Anticipated victory. Revolutionary love and solidarity."

During the 13-week trial, the prosecution contended that Miss Davis helped plot the courthouse escape try in hopes of freeing the man she loved, Soledad Brother George Jackson, who was killed last year during an alleged breakout attempt from San Quentin Prison. Drumgo testified for the defense that he knew nothing of the plot to free the Soledad Brothers.

Communist leaders in France, Germany, Australia and Britain joined American Communist party officials Henry Winston and Gus Hall in cheering Miss Davis by telegram.

U.S. Rep. Bella Abzug of New York City sent congratulations, saying: "Your strength and courage through this ordeal has been an inspiration."

The Italian town of Reggio Emilia, which named Miss Davis an honorary citizen during her stint in jail, cabled congratulations in Italian which her defense committee was still hoping to translate.

Colombo Brothers Shootout: 'May Have Been Imaginary'

NEW YORK (UPI)—A reported assassination attempt against two sons of ailing reputed underworld boss Joseph A. Colombo Sr. may not actually have occurred a high police official suggested Monday.

Deputy Chief of Detectives Seymour Silver said that the gunshot attack on a car carrying Anthony and Joseph Jr. may been "imaginary."

"It appears now that all the shooting may have been done from inside the vehicle," said Silver. At least 18 shots were fired from the car in what was purported to be the latest shooting incident in the tangled Mafia affairs of the Gallo, Colombo and Gambino families, Silver said no bullet marks were found on the outside of the car, and no bullets were found inside the car, or in front of the Colombo home where the vehicle was parked at the time of the shooting.

"The assailants may have been imaginary," said Silver.

Earlier, a search by a "substantial number" of detectives of the Colombo home in Brooklyn, turned up three unregistered automatic shotguns. Silver told newsmen the weapons were surrendered to police as they presented a search warrant at the front door of the house.

"Apparently no effort was made to remove the guns from the time we investigated the shooting until the search was executed," said Silver.

District Attorney Eugene Gold said that no charges had been filed in connection with the discovery of the weapons. Failing to register firearms in the city is punishable by up to one year in jail and a $1,000 fine. Gold did not say if charges would be filed.

The Colombo sons, together with two companions, had just parked in front of their father's house, after returning from a Madison Square Garden rally of the Italian-American Civil Rights League, when the disputed attack allegedly took place.

One gun—a Derringer—was found in the gutter.

Motorcycles have a way of disappearing.

With nearly seven million of them on the road, motorcycles are very big these days. They're also small. And hard to see.

A motorcycle coming up behind you can disappear from your rear-view mirror even before you know he's there. He can be completely out of sight for dangerous seconds. Hidden in a blind spot on your left or right.

In a large percentage of accidents involving cars and motorcycles, the automobile driver says: "I just didn't see him."

A rear-view mirror can't do everything for you. Your new car dealer reminds you that a good defensive driver always gets the full picture before changing lanes, turning corners, making any move. To help fill in the blanks, glance in your side mirror. (If you don't have one, get one.) To complete the picture, glance quickly over your shoulder. Then signal your move. So the guy behind you will get the full picture, too.

P. BARRECHIA

The proposed presidential candidacies of both George McGovern of South Dakota and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota will probably reach a decisive point in today's California primary. It is generally the opinion of political pundits that he who carries California carries the whole ball of wax, riding a wavecrest to Miami and the Democratic nomination.

Probably true, but political predictors go even further. If McGovern is the nominee, then the convention will be held with, at least, a semblance of order and the Democrats will blithely follow a path of self-destruction to the November elections.

On the other hand, if Humphrey is the nominee, intra-party warfare that will undoubtedly make Chicago of 1968 seem like a mild family quarrel will erupt, with a consequent splintering of the ultra-liberal faction and the formation of a third, and extremely decisive third party. The McCarthyites of yesterday, the young of today, the Chicanos and the militant blacks simply do not buy tired, old Humphrey and his previous, though since repudiated, support of the Vietnam War.

In short, they will not support the Democratic nominee if it is Humphrey, apparently willing to squander their votes on a third party gesture, immeasurably weakening Democratic chances and reflecting Richard Nixon.

A further intriguing possibility is the role George Wallace assays for himself. Notwithstanding the effects of his wounds suffered during the attack upon him, and his consequent inability to actively campaign, George of Alabama has proved during the few primaries he did contest that he is a politician with strong national appeal, and not just a regional symbol.

The smart money in politics envisions a calm and orderly convention only if McGovern is chosen, with only the threat of a Wallace castoff as a mass diversionary factor. McGovern is seen as getting the support of the more orthodox Democrats, along with the backing of the liberal elements.

In either case, the Democrats have come up with two losers.

What seems to have escaped the attention of Democratic planners, with their especial emphasis of the East Coast and the West Coast, is that there's a helluva lot of country in between.

And that area in between the two is the home and base of the populist sentiment that is so talked of.

Populists are generally regarded as being dissatisfied with the establishment; voters who have had it up to the gills with high taxation, bigness, social stresses, minorities claims and many of the other pressures of modern-day America.

But who represents this populist feeling best? Is it McGovern with his advocacy of the legalization of marijuana, huge boosts in welfare payments, calls for amnesty for draft evaders, economic theories that would cut defense spending so that countless of our work force would be on the bread line? These are not the issues the modern-day populist has in mind.

Even the South Dakotan's ideas of plugging inequitable tax loopholes have largely been borrowed both from Wilbur Mills and Edmund Muskie.

Certainly it is not Humphrey with obvious talent for flipping on both sides of an issue, that charges the populist allegiance. He has come out both for and against the Vietnam War; he has been for and against busing; he was an architect for the welfare scheme in the 50's only to denounce "welfare chislers" in the 70's. Surely his record can be attacked as found wanting in principle.

So the nomination of either of these two men can only mean a capitulation to Nixon and a long wait for the Democrats until 1976....

The Democratic Party alternative might however, have to be a little arm-twisting or pride swallowing. The twisting of arms would have to come in the case of Ted Kennedy. If the senator from Massachusetts, the brother of President Kennedy and heir to Camelot and protector of the Kennedy clan can be prodded into making the run, he at least would have the emotional impact to dull the positive results of Nixon's pragmatic politics. The clan of the Kennedys would wear well against the conformity of Nixon.

And then there is Wallace. Surprisingly, he would have as much if not more emotional appeal to the electorate than even Kennedy. Today's populist is not so much concerned with elevating the status of the common man, but more in retaining the status quo and getting a fair shake for himself.

The establishment he generally is opposed to is "they"—and George Wallace has described the "they" to them as the 'pointy-headed' intellectuals, the eastern elitists, the social experimenters who want to spend the populist's money on such social innovations as busing and increased welfare payments.

The Democratic Party would certainly have to swallow its pride to tab Wallace as their standard-bearer, but right now only he or Ted Kennedy have a crack at catching Nixon.

Editor, The Freeman:

A letter, written by Mr. Attilio Contini, was printed in the June 1, 1972 edition of The Daily Freeman. In it he made a rather serious accusation. He stated that the books of our Company were closed to him, of our financial report, for any and insinuated that the Executive Committee may be trying to hide something. Mr. Contini has a rather shallow memory, among other things. Following, verbatim, is a letter sent to Mr. Contini on May 19, 1972.

Governor's Priority Over Rescues

Jack Anderson Says

WASHINGTON—When the Buffalo Creek dam burst last February, 21 million cubic feet of water, coal sludge and mud engulfed 16 West Virginia communities with a force greater than that of Niagara Falls.

At least 118 persons were drowned or crushed to death that rainy Saturday and some 5,000 others were made homeless. At first, rescue work was seriously impaired because roads were blocked and the weather grounded aircraft.

By next morning, skies had cleared enough for helicopters to begin rescue and evacuation work. Five large military rescue helicopters, all assigned to the West Virginia Air National Guard, swung into action.

Only two, however, were given the urgent task of bringing in fresh water and evacuating survivors. The other three were commandeered by Gov. Arch Moore to carry him and two planeloads of bigwigs and newsmen to the scene.

The governor's arrival was carefully orchestrated. The press planes landed ahead of him so the TV crews could set up to film Moore as he stepped out to inspect the damage.

In fact, the press got two chances to photograph the governor arriving at the scene. First, the choppers set down at a coal company air strip above the site of the flood and later at a hospital in the nearby town of Man.

It is impossible to say whether any lives could have been saved had Moore not taken over the three rescue helicopters that day. But we have spoken to members of the rescue team who believe speedier assistance might have cut the death toll.

Several of the chopper pilots are known to have been extremely upset because, after they landed at Man, Moore went off—with the cameramen in tow—to tour the area by car. The helicopters were simply left to await his return.

By mid-afternoon, several pilots decided to begin making evacuation trips into the devastated valley on their own. They were able to complete a few missions before the governor returned to be ferried back to Charleston.

The nightly TV news that grim Sunday was filled with the films of Arch Moore strutting about the scene of the disaster, acting concerned.

Reached by my associate Brit Hume, Governor Moore insisted his party only consisted of essential personnel. The newsmen, he said, were an afterthought. He acknowledged, however, that his party included two bodyguards and his press secretary.

Illegitimate Records

Most of the nation's laws no longer discriminate against children born out of wedlock. But those upholders of law and order, the FBI and the Defense Department, keep careful tabs on illegitimacy.

A secret FBI file on a respected civil rights leader focuses on his illegitimate birth. Small wonder, therefore, that the Defense Department also notes such facts in its security clearance investigations. One such file in our possession prominently records that the young serviceman was "Born (sic) OUT of Wedlock."

Teen-age Talent

Teen-agers are often accused by their grumping elders of spending more time with pot, pop records and parties than with serious studying. But two typical high school scientific projects sent in to us tell just the opposite story.

To show the effect of mercury pollution on living things, Cynde Hirschtick, a ninth-grader from Chicago, treated radish seeds with mercury. Even lightly bathed seeds failed to grow.

In Huntley, Minn., Mark Seetin, a high school senior, exposed fruit flies to color television in 1969 and found they suffered weird deformations. The determined Seetin, now in college, has kept up his experiments in hopes of warning those with older model TVs of radiation dangers and of forcing makers of newer models to do more research.

Hartke's Handout

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and other friends of the railroads and big truckers on Capitol Hill are trying to sneak through a bill that could cost the taxpayers more than $5 billion.

Called the Surface Transportation Act of 1972, the legislation is so full of windfalls for the railroads, bus lines and truckers that Ralph Nader's transportation experts call it the worst such bill they have ever seen. It is now pending in Hartke's own Senate Transportation subcommittee.

Some industries which stand to profit heartily from the bill, including the freight forwarder, have helped out Hartke financially in the past. The Teamsters, who would benefit indirectly, also have been staunch Hartke allies.

Masterminding the lobbying on behalf of the Association of American Railroads is ex-Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., who in his day was one of Congress's most talented persuaders.

The railroads have also called in former astronaut Wally Schirra to do broadcast commercials and thus give the lobbying further respectability.

The bill would set up a $5 billion fund under the Secretary of the Treasury. The money could then be loaned for 15 years at token interest. A single carrier, furthermore, could borrow as much as $750 million.

One of the many loopholes in the definition of "loan". The "loans" could conceivably be written off as gifts. In any case, they would not have to be paid back until 15 years after completion of a project, thus allowing a clever company to delay repayment almost indefinitely.

The bill would also permit railroads to virtually dictate which routes they want to abandon with only 45 days' notice. This could mean financial chaos to small businesses, rural communities and shippers.

Finally, Hartke has built a huge tax loophole into the measure. It would give the surface transportation industry about $120 million a year in tax credits and $20 million in a depreciation bonanza.

Hartke insists that he is offering the bill only to open up debate of it and not because he wants every clause enacted.

Futile Savagery

The Foreign Minister of Japan called the mass murders at the Tel Aviv airport, by three Japanese terrorists, "a disgrace for Japan" and sent his top Middle East advisor to investigate and pledge compensation to the families of the victims.

The French government formally condemned the massacre but denied it was partly at fault because the terrorists had boarded an Air France plane at Rome and there had been no security check of their baggage. A cursory check would have discovered the machine guns and grenades that were the death weapons.

Premier Golda Meir, however, blamed the government of Lebanon, the reluctant headquarters of the Arab guerrilla organizations thrown out of Jordan after civil war in that country. Lebanon has been the uneasy and unwilling host to the disowned organizations and has suffered several Israeli invasions as a result.

The fact is, the blame for such a dastardly act is much wider than even the governments concerned. Japan has not been able to stomp out its "Manson Family," as the Sekigun-ha or United Red Army soldiers are called. They are only a handful, but they send members to Arab countries for guerrilla training. It was three of this terrorist family that made the assault.

Looking beyond the Sekigun-ha United Red soldier-gunmen, the Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine has boasted it is responsible for the attack.

Lebanon should totally disown and throw out these guerrillas if she would keep her status as the Switzerland of the Middle East.

Too Long to Grow Up

"As a historian I cannot but contrast your lot with that of your ancestors, who were men and women at 13 and 14 and had tested their powers well before they were out of their teens."

Professor Oscar Handlin, the Harvard historian, told the graduating seniors at Brooklyn College, from which he graduated in 1934, that they and all other members of the class of 1972 were taking too much time to grow up.

This was one of the most thought-provoking ideas we ran across in this college commencement season. Ten years ago, Professor Handlin published an article titled "Are the Colleges Killing Education?" In the commencement address at his alma mater, he decided the time had come to remove the question mark.

He put the blame on current trends on American educational theory and administration. "More time is spent in talking about learning than in learning," he observed. "In the nature of the case, the remedies proposed deepen the disease."

Others have wondered whether the majority of the seven or eight millions enrolled in colleges across the country are going to get a higher education or simply to pass the time.

Certainly, business and industry prize college degrees far above their actual value. Perhaps we should take to heart Handlin's charge that many youngsters take too much time today to grow up. Most would do well to test their powers earlier.

DETENTE AND DEFENSE—Secretary of State William P. Rogers, cautioned the NATO Council of Ministers, who had invited the Soviet Union to help organize a European conference in Helsinki in November, to preserve the "sensitive balance between detente and defense." They must not rush into negotiations for mutual force reductions without assaying the result on their defense.

HE SAW THE BUILDUP—Admiral Horacio Rivero relinquished command of NATO forces in Southern Europe with a warning against the "ominous growth of the Soviet Union's power and influence in the Mediterranean." He branded the Soviets "potential aggressors." A 41-year-old veteran, Rivero spoke out, safe from recrimination, as he also retired from the Navy.

On Nixon's Trip

WASHINGTON—The appearance of President Nixon before a joint session of Congress immediately upon his return from the "summit" was unique in American history. The applause he received on Thursday night from members of both houses of Congress, his official family and spectators in the galleries seemed longer and more spontaneous than any reception given to a chief executive in recent years.

There were human and not necessarily political reasons for this. All those present were glad to see the President and his wife safely back from a journey over long distances that involved grave risks on every step of the way. Even more, his tasks were exacting, and the President devoted nearly all of his time on the trip to the effort to arrive at understandings with the Russian leaders which could promote better relations between the United States and the Soviet Union and ultimately a lasting peace.

The President was working on his speech while on the plane homeward bound and went directly from the airport to the Capitol. When he read it to both houses of Congress, he did so without showing any signs of fatigue or strain. His objective was to give the legislators a report on the various agreements signed in Moscow and an explanation of them as advancing the cause of peace and the interests of the United States.

What many people were expecting, of course, was that the President might bring back some word about the possible settlement of the Vietnam conflict, inasmuch as Moscow is the principal ally of Hanoi. The only comment on this which Mr. Nixon made in his speech, however, was the following:

"The problem of ending the Vietnam war, which engages the hopes of all Americans, was one of the most extensively discussed subjects on our agenda. It would only jeopardize the search for peace if I were to review here all that was said on that subject. I will simply say this: each side obviously has its own point of view and its own approach to this very difficult issue. But, at the same time, both the United States and the Soviet Union share an overriding desire to achieve a more stable peace in the world."

The foregoing paragraph, as interpreted by diplomats, means that the discussions Mr. Nixon had with Moscow's leaders would hamper future negotiations if he made public either the points he had raised or the arguments voiced by the Soviets. Nor would it be helpful to disclose it even if the men in the Kremlin had indicated that they might assist in bringing about some form of settlement at the conferences in Paris.

The important thing is that the President of the United States was able to talk with the top men in Moscow about the Vietnam war, which could not be prolonged by the Hanoi government without the military and financial aid of the Soviets. An excellent opportunity was afforded Mr. Nixon to make another move toward peace in Indo-China by explaining to the Russian leaders, who may have been misconstruing American intentions in Southeast Asia. Personal conversation can do more good than letters or notes that might be exchanged on controversial subjects in diplomacy.

President Nixon not only found enthusiastic reaction in Congress to his trip but learned that a nationwide survey just conducted by the Gallup Poll showed that 61 per cent of American citizens voice approval of the way he is handling his duties as chief executive. In a similar poll taken in late March, 53 per cent were in favor. The 61 per cent figure was the highest rating Mr. Nixon has achieved in this poll since July 1970.

Incidentally, Mrs. Nixon received a remarkable amount of applause when she appeared in the gallery at the Capitol on Thursday night, and has been getting praise in all the places where she has been traveling with her husband. During the campaign, she undoubtedly will be one of the important people on the platform wherever the President speaks—though it is doubtful whether he will have to make many speeches on the stump. He probably will be concentrating on television addresses as he gives his time to the numerous problems, domestic and foreign, that require his attention. These will keep him busy in the next few months.

While there is no way of measuring the effects of the President's trips to the Soviet Union and mainland China, the belief here is that the administration has established a friendly understanding with both the Peking and Moscow governments which is bound to have a beneficial result in the process of developing methods of stopping wars.

Ray Cromley Says

Two Theories at Work

"On days like this I wish I were Amish, so I didn't have to go to high school!"

WASHINGTON

President Nixon is gambling the United States can stay three years ahead of Russia in the nuclear missile-submarine-bomber arms race.

He is betting, too, this country can so significantly upgrade its espionage techniques that American Soviet watchers can catch—early in their development—unexpected Soviet breakthroughs in such fields as laser, nuclear, space, undersea, radar and missile fuel and guidance technology.

Nixon advisor Henry Kissinger has another thesis, based on historical observation—that sometimes a momentum once lost can never be regained.

This is true in war, in national expansion, sometimes in economic and scientific growth. It is also true, Kissinger believes, in an arms race of the magnitude of this one.

Kissinger therefore believes that once the Soviet arms build-up momentum is halted, or slowed, even momentarily, and even if only in numbers, then important changes can take place in Russia. Counter pressures will build up.

Rival claimants, other than the military, will be able to more forcefully demand a larger share of the rubles, raw materials and technicians, pressures similar to those which have been building up in the United States these past few years.

The Soviet Union's Brezhnev is betting, of course, that this agreement will bring the technical aid which will enable the Soviet scientists to catch up with their American rivals, both in military technology and in the application of computers and other advanced techniques to the management of industry and to the development of the Soviet Union's vast underdeveloped areas.

Internationally, Brezhnev is betting that the underdeveloped countries will be so impressed by the numerical superiority allocated the Soviet Union in intercontinental missiles and ballistic missile submarines that these lands will be convinced that Russia is the world's number one military nation and most powerful country—and that communism is therefore the wave of the future.

This psychology of ultimate victory is a major strategy of the Kremlin in its drive for power and influence at home and abroad.

Soviet Communist theory holds that peoples usually will turn for aid and support to that nation which is the acknowledged strongest or which seems to be.

That is, the Russians, like the North Vietnamese and Chinese, are seeking a psychological victory, which in Marxist strategy is the basis for political victory.

Nixon came to Moscow; Brezhnev didn't come to Washington. On paper Russia has more ICBMs or is allowed more, and is allowed more missile submarines.

We have seen this desire for psychological victory elsewhere of late. It is for this reason that North Vietnam thus far has not been satisfied with a chance to control South Vietnam. Hanoi wants to psychologically humiliate the United States and rub Nixon's nose in the mud and do the same for President Thieu's government in South Vietnam.

This is an essential part of victory. It would not prove that North Vietnam was stronger than the United States. But psychologically, by Marxist theory, it would advance the cause more than simple victory. It would make the people in the South more malleable and would establish the position of Hanoi in Southeast Asia and in the Communist and Third Worlds.

It is in the same mode as Mao Tse-tung's thesis that it is better to destroy one enemy division completely and totally, than to defeat 10 divisions. The psychological effect is greater.

In the next decade we shall be able to see whether the Kissinger theory or Brezhnev's is closer to reality.

ACLU Denounces Testimony Linking Sinatra With Mafia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) has denounced as "character assassination" congressional testimony linking entertainer Frank Sinatra with an alleged Mafia leader.

The ACLU said Monday the testimony given by Joseph "The Baron" Barboza, a self-described "enforcer" for the Mafia, before the House Crime Committee May 24 was "a classic example of trial by publicity." It said the testimony and a Miami Beach hotel in unproved, unchecked and untrue should not have been made public until Sinatra had a crime boss Raymond Patriarca, irreparable damage to the reputation of the person discussed.

Phillips said Barboza volunteered the information when he appeared before the committee Thursday as the committee continues its investigation of underworld influence on sports. Sinatra at one time served as vice president of the track.

The ACLU said in a statement that "Mr. Sinatra's case is but one example of a congressional committee public hearing adverse testimony, but procedures permitting character assassination are intolerable and easily preventable."

McGovern Visits the Dem Governors

HOUSTON (UPI) — Sen. George McGovern paid a visit to the nation's Democratic governors today, seeking to reassure Southern and border state governors who fear his candidacy for president would doom their party to defeat in November.

McGovern flew to Houston late Monday on the eve of the party's crucial California presidential primary in a hastily organized move to head off a simmering anti-McGovern dispute among Democrats attending the National Governors' Conference.

After spending almost two hours with 22 of the 30 Democratic governors in an extensive question and answer session, McGovern said: "The atmosphere when I left was considerably warmer than when I arrived."

The South Dakota Democrat said he covered almost all of the issues on which he has taken controversial positions, including his proposed defense spending cuts and national minimum income plan.

McGovern said he made no compromises on his positions on the issues and none were requested. But he said he underscored his desire to unify the party.

"My basic intention in coming was in trying to reconcile all factions in the party," he said.

Since the three-day conference began Monday, a group of Democratic governors has been growing progressively more vocal in their complaints about what they said were McGovern's "extreme" positions on certain issues.

Meanwhile, Gov. Marvin Mandel of Maryland, chairman of the Democratic governors, announced that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., had asked to appear before the governors' caucus.

McGovern said he told the governors that his views often were misunderstood "because most of the time you've heard my positions explained by my opponents."

McGovern also was asked by the governors whether he would select a Southern running mate if he won the nomination. He said he still has "nobody definitely in mind," but mentioned Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida as a possibility. He said he could not rule out Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, the powerful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Earlier Monday, Gov. William Waller of Mississippi said he had polled the Democratic governors and said only three of 25 indicated that McGovern would carry their state against President Nixon in November.

'No-Fault' Victory in Massachusetts

BOSTON (UPI) — Massachusetts car owners will receive an estimated $30 million to $40 million in refunds from auto insurance companies under a court decision that was a victory for the "no fault" concept.

The Massachusetts Supreme Court, basing its decision on an excess profits statute, ruled Monday insurance companies would have to reduce their 1972 compulsory auto insurance rates by 27.6 per cent and refund the difference to the insured.

"It is an absolutely tremendous victory for people," said Insurance Commissioner John G. Ryan, whose decision to cut the rates was challenged in court by the industry. "The decision by the court means a sharing of the success of no-fault for all the people."

Ryan said refunds of between $30 million and $40 million will be distributed to drivers "in the next month."

When the nation's first no-fault auto insurance concept was enacted in Massachusetts two years ago, compulsory rates were reduced by 15 per cent in anticipation of savings incurred by the new concept of auto insurance.

Ryan found that after one year in operation the no-fault law would allow far greater reductions in costs and ordered compulsory rates cut by 27.6 per cent for 1972. He also moved to have an equal rebate approved retroactively for 1971 on the grounds that "if the 1972 rates can be 27.6 per cent lower, the rates for 1971 were 27.6 per cent higher than they should have been."

But the industry challenged Ryan's decision.

The compulsory auto insurance rate for Boston in 1970—before no-fault—was $117. Before the court's ruling, the rate was $73 and will fall to around $47 as a result of the ruling.

British Troops Battle Rioters

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—British troops battled rioting Protestant and Roman Catholic youths today in Belfast and Portadown, 25 miles southwest of the Northern Ireland capital.

The army said at least six persons, including a 14-year-old boy, were wounded by gunfire from unidentified sources during the disorders in the two cities.

The fighting broke out after three Roman Catholic housewives presented British authorities with a petition signed by 63,500 Roman Catholics demanding an end to violence waged by the Irish Republican Army (IRA).

An army spokesman said a British soldier and two unidentified civilians sustained minor gunshot wounds when scores of youths attacked troops with stones, bottles and bricks in the Roman Catholic New Lodge Road area of Belfast. Troops fired rubber bullets in an attempt to disperse the rioters.

Hijacker to Get Asylum, $500,000 Will be Returned

ALGIERS (UPI) — Algeria, traditional haven for political dissenters, will grant asylum to a Black Panther hijacker and his girl friend but will return to Western Airlines the $500,000 ransom it paid the hijackers, Algerian officials said Monday.

The U.S. government has asked Algeria both for the extradition of the two hijackers—William Holder, 22, and Katherine Mary Kerkow, 21, an oceanography student, both from San Diego.

Government officials said in El-Biar district of Algiers, Holder and Miss Kerkow, who hijacked a Western Airlines jet over the West Coast Friday night, switched to a longer-range jet in San Francisco, then released their 40 passenger hostages in New York before flying to Algiers Saturday. They were certain to be allowed to stay as political refugees with the Black Panther colony here.

Army Starts War on Lard; It's Shape Up or Ship Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The old adage about an army traveling on its stomach apparently has fallen into disfavor with Gen. William C. Westmoreland. He has ordered his troops to literally trim the fat from the ranks.

U.S. Army commanders around the world were told in no uncertain terms last week to make frequent checks of everyone in their units to find those "who are becoming obese, and commence corrective action."

The new regulations issued by Westmoreland, the Army chief of staff, could lead to eventual dismissal or early retirement for overweight GIs and Army women—who fail to shed the extra pounds. A spokesman said there has been no change in the Army's standards, just a new emphasis "reflecting concern for the health and welfare of the military population and the need to maintain a reasonably fit army."

No one will be tossed out of the service just for being overweight.

But the regulations say that "insincere, sporadic, or evasive performance in weight-reduction or physical-fitness programs may provide substantial evidence of conditions justifying separation for unsuitability."

The Army's heavyweights will have a chance to slim down. If their problem is attributable to nonmedical causes, they will be placed on a medically supervised weight-reduction program. But if calorie counting doesn't work, they will be ineligible for re-enlistment, the Army said.

Accused of obstructing governmental administration and other charges as the result of an incident Monday night Douglas E. Williams, 18, of Ellenville, and Stanley Eiseman, 20, of Mountaintide, were arraigned before Town Justice Gregston Greer. Troopers R. K. Baker and J. F. Weisbeck also charged Williams with unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle and drunken driving. Eiseman was also cited for permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his car.

The two pleaded guilty. Police said Williams was committed to the county jail in lieu of $125 fines, and Eiseman was released after paying $50 in fines.

Memoriam

In memory of my husband, our father and grandfather, Ralph Corrado, who passed away 3 years ago June 6, 1969. God took him home, it was his will. But in our hearts, we love him still.

His memory is as dear today. As in the hour he passed away. We often sit and think of him. When we are all alone. For memory is the only friend That grief can call its own.

WIFE, CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN

Memoriam

In loving memory of Florence Sickler who passed away one year ago, June 6, 1971.

One year ago the Lord saw best, To put a precious soul to rest. Her busy days on earth were done.

Her eternal rest was greatly won. She's missed far more than words can say.

And loved still more each passing day. We always had her tender care. Her love we weren't denied. In our hearts and memories She's still right by our side.

DAUGHTER SIS, GRANDDAUGHTERS BEVERLY AND LOIS

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my son and our brother Joseph Stephano Jr. who passed away seven years ago June 5, 1965.

And in loving memory of my husband and our father Joseph Stephano Sr. who passed away four years ago today, June 6, 1968.

If we could have one lifetime wish, One dream that would come true.

We would pray with all our hearts for yesterday and you.

To your grave we wander Flowers we place with care. But only God knows the heartache

As we turn and leave you there. Memories are treasures no one can steal. Death leaves a heartache no one can heal.

Some may forget you now that you're gone. But we shall remember no matter how long.

Central Hudson Expects Sufficient Summer Power

POUGHKEEPSIE Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation reports that it expects to have sufficient electric power to serve all of its customers throughout the Mid-Hudson Valley this summer.

In making the announcement, Central Hudson President Ernest E. Althouse said. "As a result of scheduled maintenance performed at our Danskammer Point plant this spring, our generating equipment is in good condition to meet the heavy demand for electricity normally experienced during the summer months."

He noted, however, that as a member of the New York Power Pool, Central Hudson may be requested to reduce voltage to assist other utilities in the event they have temporary power shortages.

Althouse added, "although we expect to have an adequate supply of power this summer, our nation is confronted with a growing shortage of fuel and energy. For this reason, we are encouraging our customers to use all fuels efficiently and to conserve all forms of energy." The New York Power Pool, approved by the Public Service Commission, is designed to preserve the stability of electric systems during emergencies, not adversely affect the quality of electric service. The power

The meeting will be held at the Storm King Art Center in Mountainville.

FAA's Eastern Region, headquartered at New York's Kennedy International Airport, covers New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia. Stanton has been with the possibility of widespread power conserved through a five per cent reduction in voltage does be made available to another company experiencing a temporary shortage.

Pattern for Progress, a private seven-county regional planning, research and development corporation, has been focusing major attention on the development of Stewart Airport near Newburgh. In October, Pattern's professional planning staff completed its own independent study of Stewart's future potential for expansion, and recommended several approaches that would integrate the facility with the environment of the surrounding area.

Seeks First Ballot Nomination

McGovern Eyes Democratic Convention

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Hubert H. Humphrey and George S. McGovern, confident of winning in California, already is looking past today's primary.

In the month before the national convention he hopes to lock up a first ballot nomination and "build bridges" to the South and other parts of the Democratic party wary of his candidacy.

The pre-convention strategy is twofold: to pick up enough uncommitted delegates and possibly some which belong to Edmund S. Muskie to go over the top; and to meet personally with leaders in the South and others in an effort to unify the party.

Among those McGovern almost certainly will call are McGovern concedes it would be difficult to win the nomination to get most of those, putting together 500 votes from California and New York, the two biggest delegations.

The entire strategy hinges on winning in California, with its 271 winner-take-all delegates votes. Without that victory, McGovern hopes to win the nomination—effort to woo the uncommitted, almost certainly McGovern nomination. McGovern plans a concerted effort to woo the uncommitted, almost certainly McGovern nomination. McGovern plans a concerted effort to woo the uncommitted, almost certainly McGovern nomination.

Weathermen Have Seven TV Channels

SALZBURG, Austria (AP) — Two men on top of a 10,000-foot mountain probably are the loneliest Austrians. But they also are the only Austrians who can choose from seven television channels.

They are the observers on towering Sonnblick Mountain in the Austrian Alps, Europe's oldest meteorological observation point perched on the mountain top like an eagle's nest.

When they are on duty, they are really on their own. In winter, when blizzards howl around the observation post, they are marooned for days.

Sometimes weeks pass before they see anybody else, says Luitpold Binder, secretary of the Sonnblick Society and chief of department in the Central Meteorological Institute in Vienna.

The station is not large. It consists of three small rooms with sleeping quarters underneath the roof.

A normal shift is two men, but sometimes this is cut to one, to allow for days off.

Because of the great altitude of the station, the television set there can receive the programs of four countries. Austria has only two TV channels. The other TV channels received at the station are from neighboring countries.

Three weeks work by the weather observers are followed by one week off. During summertime, tourists flock to a mountain lodge next to the observation station.

The television—and the tourists—are welcome to the observers as a diversion from their instrument readings at three-hour intervals during the day. They relay their findings to the Salzburg Meteorological Station via radio telephone.

In picking the weather observers, the Central Meteorological Institute always looks first for men from nearby valley villages. They have to be expert mountaineers. Whatever else they need for the job they learn on the spot.

While the wages of $200 a month are small, most applicants believe that with free room and board, they can save money during their mountain isolation.

One added, "Where else can I get seven television channels."

Employees Become Inmates

SHELTON, Wash. (AP) — "Your thoughts become limited and your sense of values change radically when those iron gates clang shut. You begin to live from meal to meal—from hour to hour."

Joe Rinaldi, showering after spending time behind bars, reflected on his taste of prison life at the Washington Correction Center.

He was different from the average inmate — his stay ended after a three-day experiment.

Rinaldi, who is with the state's Division of Probation and Parole office in Seattle, was among 17 state employees who were imprisoned voluntarily recently and treated like all other inmates.

"I found it's hard to live here and maintain your values," he said while being processed to leave. "I think the most important thing I've learned is that basic feeling, the human experience all inmates feel—the urge for survival. You become keenly aware of it and begin living it."

Rinaldi said he was apprehensive when he first came to the small timber-oriented community to participate in the short-term imprisonment. That soon changed to fear and his thinking became "limited and channeled," he said.

"I've got a feeling now about what these inmates experience," he said. "This is an unprincipled nowhere land. As a probation officer I'll think twice about whether to recommend that a man be sent back here."

Center Supt. Robert Raines said the 17 "inmates" were given no special treatment.

The men were not given work assignments; instead they spent their days and evenings "rapping" with inmates and participating in seminars on parole officer-resident training along with men from the Resident Government Council.

Later the inmates and their short-term guests exchanged views on the visit, and newsmen were invited to observe.

"I got a lot better understanding of you cats now," one inmate told the visiting counselors and prison staffers. "Now I won't feel when I get out of here that I've got a cage coming down around my head."

"There has been some real enlightenment on both sides," said another inmate. "I see now there are some cool people on both sides of the fence."

PLAN SHOW AND FAIR — Mr. and Mrs. William J. East, co-chairmen for the second annual Town of Ulster Library Arts and Crafts Show, make plans for the event, which takes place from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Saturday, June 17, at the library, 985 Morton Boulevard. New this year will be the display of handicrafts in any craft media. Cash prizes will be awarded. Donations of merchandise for the fair, which will run in conjunction with the art show, may be left at the library. (Freeman photo by Kruhn)

Sailplanes Fly High

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — America, held back by decades of prosperity, is catching up in the international sport of soaring.

Soaring—don't call it gliding—is flying high and handsome.

The ranks of America's soaring pilots have doubled and redoubled in just the past 10 years, to an estimated 25,000.

Even more spectacular has been the evolution of the long-winged and lightweight birds they fly, a change from the duck-like gliders of the post-World War II era to the eagle-like sailplanes of today.

The most exotic of these are the end product of a "fiberglass revolution" by aeronautical designers, beautiful craft with tapering wingspans of 60 feet and more, yet weighing only from 400 to 800 pounds.

Flying without an ounce of power except that found in the energies of the moving sky, they are capable of soaring flight to make an eagle envious.

Through the decade dubbed "The Soaring Sixties" every soaring record in the books was wiped out at least once.

For example, Paul Bickle, retired director of the NASA Flight Test Center in California's Mojave Desert, piloted a tiny U.S.-built Schweizer to a world record altitude of 46,267 feet.

Ben Greene of Elizabethtown, N.C., and Wally Scott of Odessa, Tex., flying German-built fiberglass sister ships, chased each other all the way from Odessa to Columbus, Neb., two years ago for a jointly held world distance record of 716.95 miles.

Ross Briegleb of Las Vegas, Nev., holds the U.S. speed record of 88.62 miles an hour around a 100-kilometer triangular course, and is preparing to go after the world mark of 96.34 miles an hour held by a West German pilot. There are 100-horsepower light planes that won't do much better.

Bickle is non-flying captain of a four-man U.S. team entered in the International Soaring Championships in Yugoslavia in July. Greene is one of his pilots and Scott is a backup alternate. Hundreds of America's best soaring pilots compete annually in 11 regional championships and the U.S. championships, scheduled this year in Reno, Nev., July 18-27.

The Soaring Society of America has 13,000 members who can earn international badges which the SSA awards for Federation Internationale Aeronautique, the world governing body of the sport.

Upstate Man Shoots Officer Then Kills Self

FLAGSTAFF (AP) — A man who shot an Arizona highway patrolman and later killed himself has been identified as Melvin Kenneth Nichols, 21, of Binghamton, N.Y.

The Arizona Department of Public Safety said Monday that Nichols was identified through a fingerprint check with the FBI.

Patrolman Jan Madeya, 29, was reported in good condition Monday night in Flagstaff Hospital after undergoing surgery for a shoulder wound.

A highway patrol spokesman said Madeya stopped Nichols for investigation of drunken driving and was shot by Nichols, who seized a gun from the floor of his camper-pickup.

Nichols sped away but then shot himself fatally in the chest.

Burns Charges Postal Abuse

CARMEL John Burns III, Democratic candidate for Congress from the new 25th District, today charged his Republican opponent Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. with using the postal service for political ends and abusing his franking privileges for that purpose.

Burns decried the mailing by Fish of circulars on admission to the military academies to post offices in areas that he does not indeed represent. Burns also criticized the prominent posting of the circulars in public areas of those post offices. The Democratic candidate made his charges in a letter protesting Fish's actions to the postmaster general. And he called for the prompt removal of the offending notices.

The circulars, which solicit applications to the three military academies, were mailed under Fish's frank to post offices in Putnam, Southern Dutchess and Northern Westchester Counties, all of which are areas that Fish does not represent," Burns said. Fish represents the old 28th Congressional District, which includes Ulster, Northern Dutchess Columbia, Greene, Delaware, Schoharie, Otsego, Columbia and parts of Sullivan and Montgomery counties.

Burns feels that the Congressman is misrepresenting himself to many of the constituents of the newly structured 25th District. In his letter, Burns charges that "the notices will confuse young persons desiring admission to these academies into applying to Fish, who cannot nominate them, instead of applying to their own congressman, who can nominate them."

And, "since Fish cannot nominate applicants from these areas," Burns said, "the prominent posting of these notices in post offices of these areas appears as a systematic attempt to use the postal service for political ends with callous disregard for the interests of the residents of the new 25th Congressional District."

O'Neil to Run Against Robison

NORWICH A Conservative candidate to oppose Republican incumbent Congressman Howard Robison in Ulster County's new 27th Congressional District has announced his intention to run in the November election.

He is 24-year-old Patrick M. O'Neil of Norwich, a former reporter for the Sun-Bulletin, a Binghamton paper in Broome County.

O'Neil resigned his position on the newspaper staff to seek election and is meanwhile serving as head resident at a campus dormitory at Harpur College. He is also a graduate student at Harpur in Binghamton.

The 27th Congressional District includes the Rondout Valley corridor of Ulster County, Sullivan, Delaware, Broome, Tioga and parts of Chemung and Tompkins Counties.

Announcement of O'Neil's candidacy was made by Ulster County Conservative Party Chairman Harry Hoffman and Broome County Conservative County Chairman Russell Norris.

Fish Hits Rail Service

POUGHKEEPSIE "Due to an agreement between AMTRAK and the Metropolitan Transportation Authority, railroad passengers from New York City are not permitted to disembark at Poughkeepsie and passengers are unable to get on at Poughkeepsie for New York," according to Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. who is protesting the "totally inadequate service." In a letter to Roger Lewis, president of the National Railroad Passenger Corporation, Fish urged AMTRAK to eliminate unfair and negative restrictions regarding Poughkeepsie passenger traffic.

Under the agreement entered into between AMTRAK and the MTA passengers boarding AMTRAK trains in New York cannot get off in Poughkeepsie, while passengers in Poughkeepsie wishing to go to New York cannot board AMTRAK trains. All such passengers must travel via three MTA trains.

"This arrangement negates any usefulness of AMTRAK to the people of Poughkeepsie," Congressman Fish said. "At a time our area is growing and mass transportation is one of the vital elements of this growth, this is not the time to cut back and curtail, but a time to expand."

"It is my view that this agreement is not in the public interest. It eliminates the AMTRAK route of primary usefulness and convenience to the citizens of Poughkeepsie."

Adequate alternative service is not provided by the MTA trains, which are slower and infrequent. Furthermore, the restrictions imposed by an agreement of this type, were not authorized or envisioned by the Congress when it enacted the statute which created the National Rail Passenger Service.

"Thus, I urge AMTRAK to eliminate these unfair and negative restrictions as regards Poughkeepsie passenger traffic. These passengers deserve full service to New York City. Your close and favorable consideration on this matter would be greatly appreciated by the entire Hudson Valley."

Support for Rapkin

MARLBORO The formation of a Citizens for Yale Rapkin Committee has been announced by James R. Aurigemma, South Road, Marlboro, chairman of the group.

Meanwhile endorsement of Rapkin, the Republican Conservative candidate for Congress in Ulster County's new 26th Congressional District also came from the Rockland County Police Benevolent Association and the West Nyack Republican Club.

In making the announcement Aurigemma asked voters to come forward on Primary Day, June 20 and vote for "the only candidate who can bring government closer to the people and away from the ultra-liberalism that has caused the trend of social and moral decay."

According to Martin Pignatelli, president of PBA, the association "broke with all precedent by endorsing Rapkin, never having offered such endorsement in the history of the organization."

has "repeatedly shown that he understands the problems faced by all police forces in these difficult days."

"We believe that he stands for those principles and policies which can best enable us, as policemen to protect the property and person of all citizens."

"We cannot fully discharge that duty unless we are afforded the cooperation so vital to effectively combat the swelling tide of violence and crime."

"We find Yale Rapkin a champion of all that we hold necessary for the preservation of law and order with dignity and common sense."

Harness Group Endorses Gilman

GOSHEN George Greb, vice president of the Historic Harness Horsemen, Inc., has announced his association's endorsement of Assemblyman Benjamin A. Gilman for the new 26th District Congressional seat in Washington.

He said his association has long recognized Gilman's distinguished record in the State Legislature and his personal efforts to make New York State a new national leader in the breeding and rearing of fine Standard Bred Harness Horses.

The association also noted the Congressional candidate's record on ecology and cited his efforts from the passage and implementation of the Farm Districting Bill which will preserve greenlands in the rapidly developing area of the 26th Congressional District including all of Orange and Rockland counties and three towns of southern Ulster County.

On Stewart Field

Dow Attacks FAA

NEWBURGH Stewart, including the taking of Congressman John G. Dow (D-27th) has scored the Federal Aviation Administration head for not living up to the terms of the deed to Stewart Airport and has asked for an interpretation from general Services Administration.

Dow said he had told FAA Administrator John H. Shaffer that "Paragraph 7 (L) of the Stewart Deed specifically requires the MTA to get FAA approval of all changes at land around that airport."

In his reply, Shaffer said that the FAA would not request the updating of the airport layout plan, and that they would wait for the MTA to submit their "Master Plan" for the development of Stewart, according to Dow.

"Since New York State has already taken 9,000 acres around Stewart, I don't see what it going to be left to approve," he added.

"The course chosen by the FAA has a great potential for disaster," he further noted. "They are proposing to approve changes at Stewart Field retroactively."

Dow said that he had written to the General Services Administration requesting an official interpretation of the Stewart deed.

SOMETIMES A PICTURE IS NOT WORTH A THOUSAND WORDS . . .

—This one for instance, is not . . . nor would a thousand words be enough to tell the story of St. Sylvia's. Surrounded by peaceful green countryside, this exquisite little bluestone church with its brick-walled interior, its oak ceiling supported by solid oak beams, has a history beginning in 1856 when it was established as a mission church.

By 1888 a school had been opened, for children of all faiths, staffed by the Sisters of Charity. (Fifty to sixty students annually attended this school until it closed in 1962 so that they could enroll in St. Christopher's Central Parochial School.)

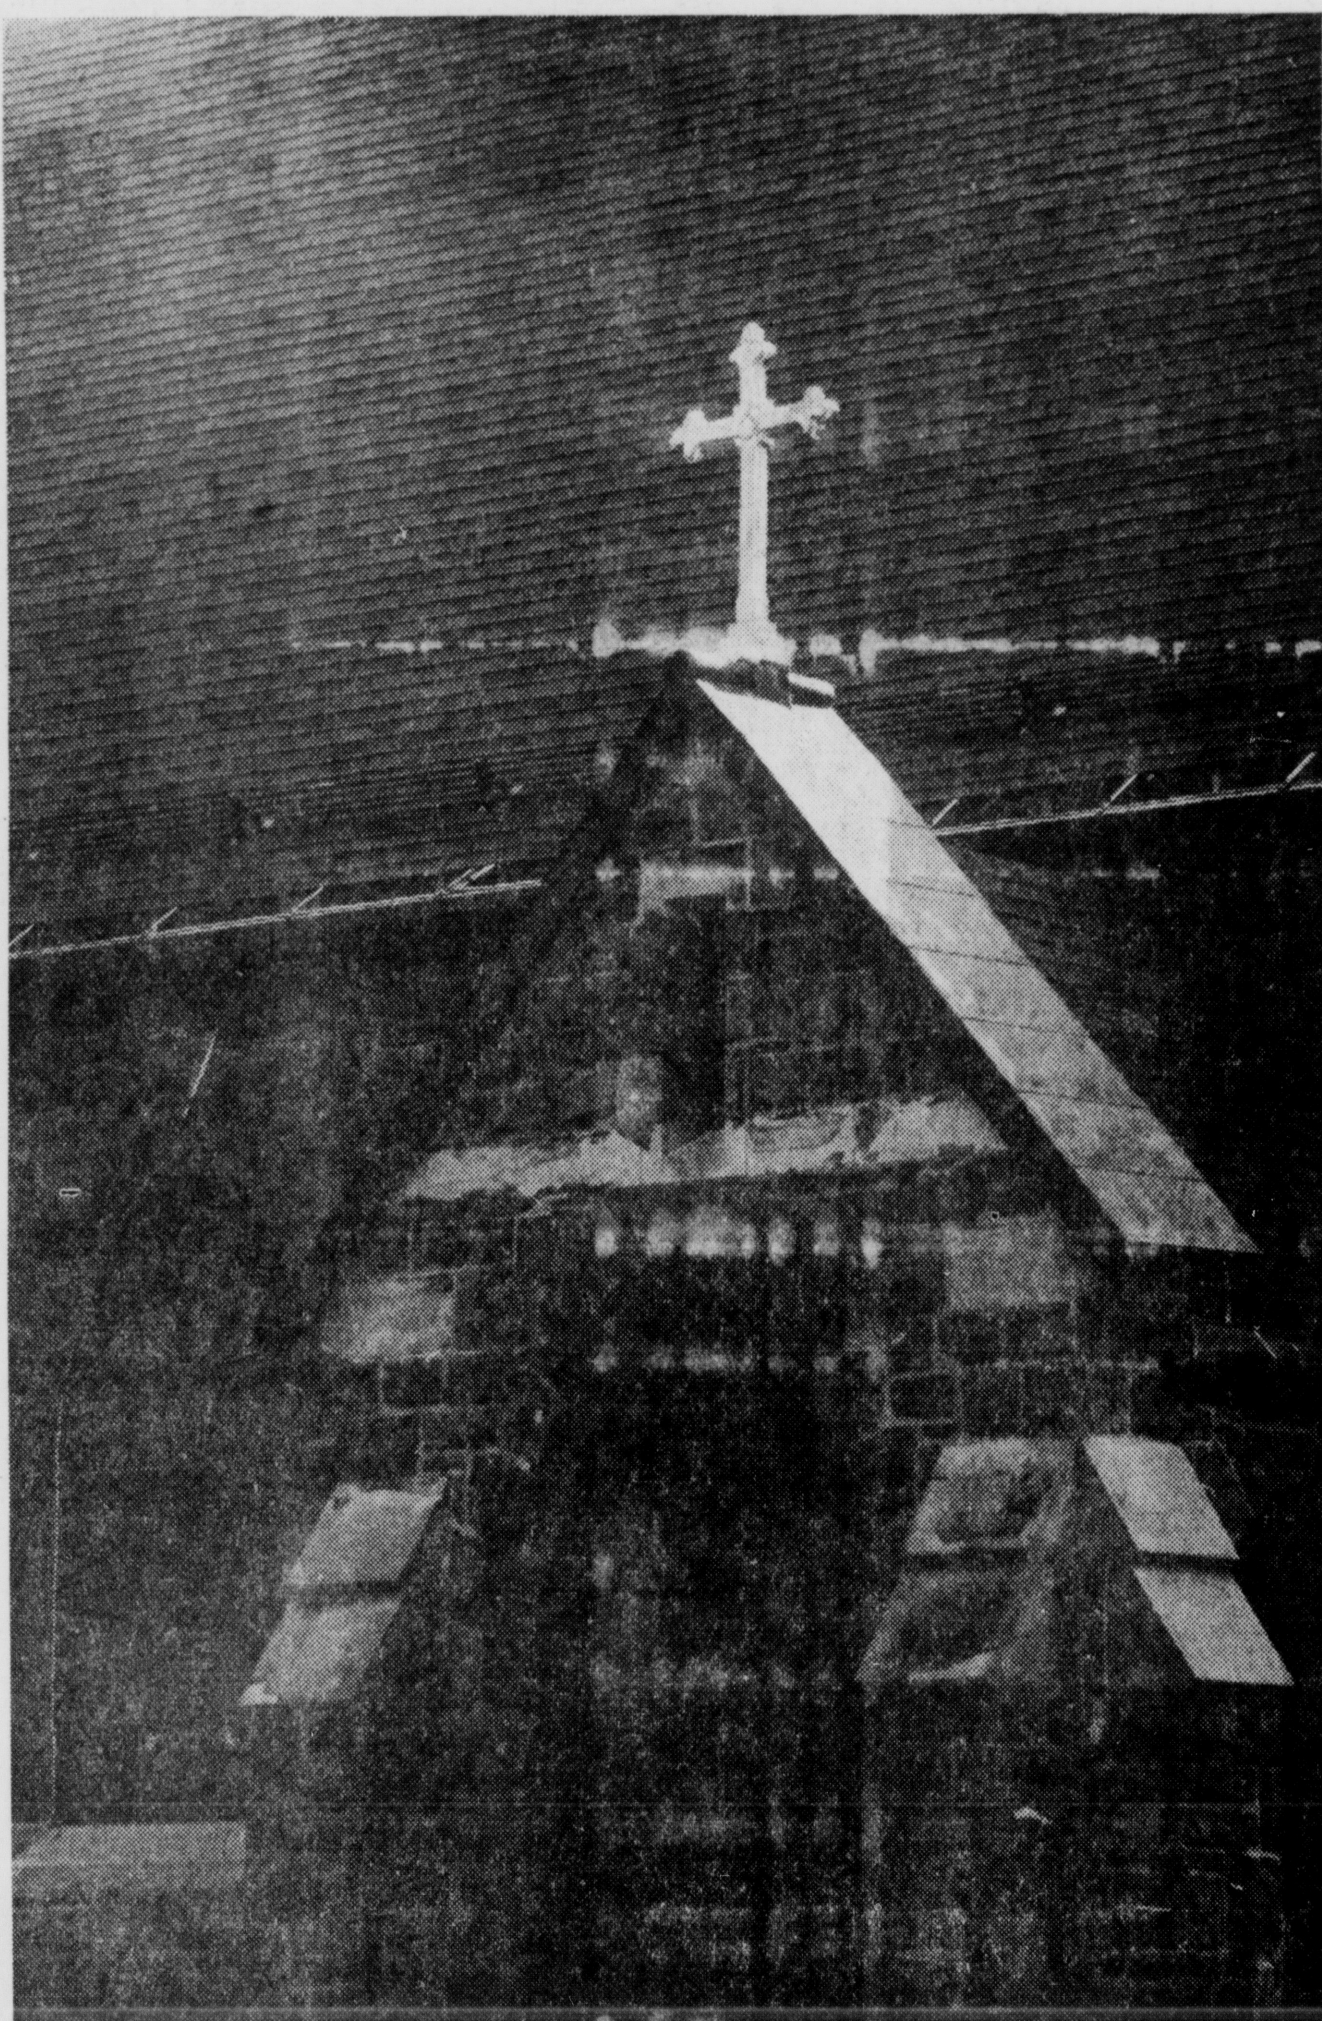

Just 135 souls comprised the congregation when St. Sylvia's became a parish in 1890. Through the generosity of the Countess Carolod L. de Laugier Villars, and her sister, Mrs. Geraldyn Redmond, the present structure was built and equipped in 1902 in memory of their mother, Mrs. Johnston Livingston.

And who is St. Sylvia? Rev. Msgr. James F. Kane, pastor, tells us she lived in the sixth century and was, among other things, Mother of Pope Gregory the Great, renowned for her charity, and is the patroness of expectant mothers.

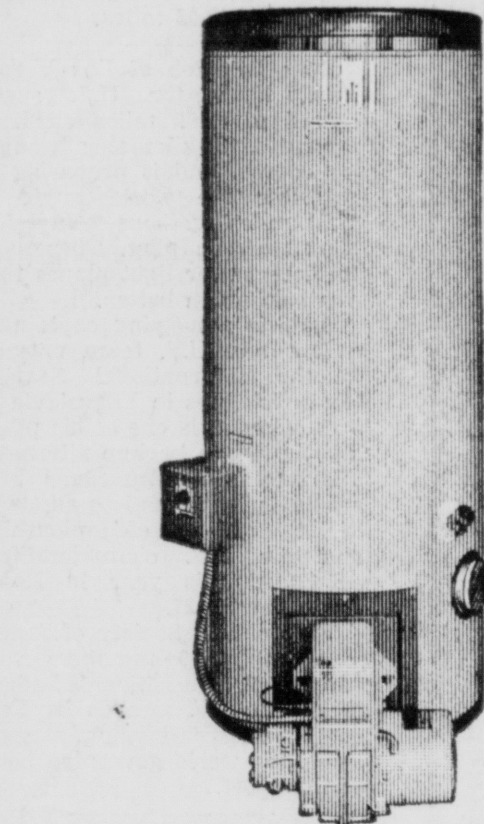

You can understand why we're proud of having reroofed this venerable structure, and wish to extend our congratulations to St. Sylvia's, and to the community of Tivoli celebrating its centennial this weekend.

Housing Plan For Ellenville Causes Turmoil

By CARL GRAHAM

ELLENVILLE — About 75 Ellenville residents, angry over reports that a site had been selected for a 70-unit low income housing project in the village, showed up at the village board meeting Monday night and learned that trustees and the mayor knew little more about the situation than they did.

Mayor Robert Dowling told them that despite reports in two Ellenville weekly newspapers and on a local radio station, the site has not yet been chosen. He said that board members had not been notified and that he first learned of it from the radio report. He also said that the report had not been authorized by village officials and called its release "very poor judgement."

The proposed development was announced as having been set for a location along Maple Avenue and Eaton Court on the village's north side, subject to the approval of the Ellenville Housing Authority.

Dowling said that Gordon W. Kent, Housing Authority chairman, was expected back from vacation tonight and that he (Dowling) would arrange a meeting with him (Kent) as soon as possible to discuss possible alternatives to the Maple Avenue site.

"Nothing has been decided and nothing will be decided until we have this meeting," he assured the audience. He also said that despite the report the village board, not the Housing Authority, would make the ultimate decision and that it would hold a public hearing before taking action.

Willard Mance, who resides near the Maple Avenue site, presented the board with a petition which he said bore 100 names, objecting to the project's location there.

He said that 98 per cent of the area's residents object to the project being located there and that there were more suitable locations in other places in the village.

Temper flared and several speakers were interrupted in mid-sentence during the discussion. Several black speakers claimed that objections to the project were based on racial considerations.

Trustee Robert Woodhouse said the board would do what it felt best for the entire village and that racial differences would play no part in the decision.

"We're going to treat it just like a piece of property," he said.

The board voted 4-1, with Trustee Walter Grey dissenting, to change the method of voter registration by repealing a 1961 local law that required the village to maintain its own separate voter registration rolls.

Dowling said the change was being made to give more people an opportunity to vote. He noted that many village residents winter in the south and are not in the village on registration day, and that changing the law to accept Ulster County registrants would give them a chance to become eligible for village elections by registering with the county.

Grey said he voted against the measure because it would make two voter rolls necessary and create confusion among voters.

The board approved a contract with Sign Lines, a Napanoch firm that manufactures cement and wood park benches and sells advertising space on them. The firm receives all revenues and the sites for the benches are selected by the village.

The board approved extension for one year of four bond anticipation notes totaling $71,950.

The notes cover costs of an excavating machine for the public works department, extra expenses incurred during heavy snowstorms two winters ago, reconstruction of the village hall, and reconstruction of Canal Street.

Trustee Michael Tannenbaum concurred in the vote but said he felt the village should start paying off the principal of the notes instead of continuing to pay high interest rates on them.

The board also approved a contract with Datron Corp. that will net the village $36,000 over the next 20 years for the firm's use of property at Sam's Point owned by the village. Rental, payable in advance annually, is $1,200 for the first 10 years and $2,400 for the next 10 years.

In other action, the board commended village workers for their efforts during last week's cloudburst, approved the application of a local musical group to give soul music concerts on Canal Street from 8-11 p.m. Fridays during the summer, named Woodhouse as the village's representative on the Wawarsing Narcotics Guidance Council, and approved a tag day as a fund raising venture for the Police Youth Organization.

Red Hook School Tax: Propose Slight Hike

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK — A true value tax rate reduction is forecast by the Red Hook Central School District proposed budget, released Monday, despite slight increases in the amount per thousand the landholder will have to pay.

This seeming discrepancy is accounted for by the fact that state auditors lopped off a point or two from most of the equalization rates accounted for in the district, including lowering this rate from 20 to 19 per cent in the town of Red Hook.

While contract negotiations with the Red Hook Faculty Association are still progressing after an impasse was declared several weeks ago, estimates in the area of education (instruction) show an increase from $1,866,224 to $1,947,685. This is the largest single area in the budget total of $3,520,789, up from $3,323,475.

Property taxes would account for less than $1 million, up about $25,000 from last year.

It was stressed in the board report that there will be: no new monies in the form of state aid; a limited growth in new property assessments; a leveling of school population in the kindergarten and primary grades which reduces growth aid; a decline in equalization rates in all but one of our five townships; and increased costs in general.

Regarding wages, the board reported: "Wage increases have been offered to all personnel within the wage-price guidelines now in effect. The elementary staff has been reduced by five positions and only one new teacher has been added to the 7-12 staff to cover increased enrollments caused by moving up of the large elementary classes."

Regarding registration and voting it was stated that qualified voters must register personally prior to voting, which takes place June 14.

Those who voted at the annual meeting in June, 1971 and who year rereregistered at that time are eligible to vote this year.

Those who did not register or those who have moved into the district since last June must have registered May 31 or June 3 at the high school.

Salaries, lumped together, for the five full time principals and one part time assistant to the secondary principal total $98,250, up almost $5,000 from the 1971-72 budget.

And the transportation section of the budget is up considerably due to the expected purchase of three new 61-passenger buses from a total of $167,796 to $221,992.

Most other sections of the budget are substantially the same, with the exception of employee benefits and insurance which shows an anticipated rise of some $65,000 to $495,900.

The school system is composed of 3,223 students from kindergarten through the senior

State Aid Sought On Village Water

RED HOOK — The Village of Red Hook has asked the state for help in solving its water problems, it was noted at Monday evening's Board of Trustees meeting.

Mayor Robert Bowman stated that Clerk Francis Rabbett had been in contact with state water resource personnel from this region to ask for aid in solving what has become a problem in producing enough water to meet the needs of the people.

He responded to a question that the area in question covered not only the immediate corporate village of Red Hook, but the area surrounding it, which might be affected by any plan designed to alleviate what has become a strain on the water-producing capabilities of the well system in current operation.

In other business, it was noted by Mayor Robert Bowman that the village had interceded at the county level requesting information on bidding for supplies at that level where it might prove advantageous over state bids. This may be accomplished if feasible.

The Rocco Sardone property on St. John Street, where a bus garage has fallen down, has been under investigation by village attorney Douglas Wicks. He reported that the owner will allow the village to demolish the existing structure. There have been judgments against the property amounting to about $4,000, which have deterred the Red Hook Telephone Company from its purchase. The village is presently determining whether or not the demolition would be profitable.

Mayor Robert Bowman and Trustee Douglas Magley met with the Red Hook Taxpayers' Association regarding the almost completed revised zoning law for the village, which is currently being reviewed by the Dutchess County Department of Planning prior to further action.

Rhinebeck Board Prexy Calls for Local Control

RHINEBECK — This is still my belief — in a small district, with its very small staff, many tasks must be done by the board itself or by citizen groups."

He stressed the importance of proving the "viability" of a school as small as ours, because pressures have existed by merger to eliminate them by merging into larger districts and these pressures show no signs of letting up. On the contrary, the Fleischmann Commission's recommendations, if adopted, will severely reduce local control of our school."

And Boehm stated, "...if we fail to teach well, if we fail to be efficient, or if we fail to obtain the support from our voters, then the state will — and right-fully should — move in and take over."

He said that other candidates for this office lack experience but will bring different backgrounds and fresh ideas instead of "the public will have to make the choice."

He asked that voters attend candidates night June 7 and vote June 14.

WHAT YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT GONORRHEA COULD MAKE YOU STERILE.

Gonorrhea can make you sterile. It's as simple as that. If you are a woman it can rob you of the chances of ever having a baby.

And if you're a woman, you can have gonorrhea and never know it. That's another tragic fact. Four out of five women who get gonorrhea, never know they've had it. Until they try to get pregnant.

And for many it's too late.

Gonorrhea is everywhere. It's epidemic. And it isn't choosy. Lots of nice people get gonorrhea.

Lefkowitz Defends Position On Under-21 Office Holders

ALBANY — "No person shall be capable of holding a civil office who shall not, at the time he shall be chosen thereto, have attained the age of twenty-one years..." (Public Officers Law, Section 3, subdivision 1).

This is the section of the law on which Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz based his answer to a request from the Commissioner of Education on the eligibility of persons under 21 to hold office.

Dutchess Dean Chairs Council

POUGHKEEPSIE — James B. Harr, Dean of Student Personnel Services at Dutchess Community College, was recently elected to his third term as Chairman of the Council of the Deans of Students of the Two-Year Colleges of the State University of New York.

The Council consists of all the Deans of Students in the 42 community colleges and agricultural and technical colleges associated with the State University.

The Council of Deans addresses itself to the discussion and solution of various professional problems relating to the areas of student personnel services, pursues and endeavors to encourage appropriate legislations having to do with the two-year colleges, and meets twice yearly in formal meetings.

And Chairman, Harr also serves on the Advisory Committee for the Two-Year College Development Center in Albany, and also on the Advisory Committee to the Vice Chancellor for Two Year Colleges.

Dan Harr has been with Dutchess since 1963 and was appointed Dean of Students in 1966.

HS Senior Wins Hospital Award

POUGHKEEPSIE — Lynn Kessel, a senior at Roosevelt High School, received a $100 scholarship from St. Francis Hospital at the recent Junior Volunteer Capping and Award Ceremonies.

She was selected for outstanding volunteer service, having given more than 500 hours of time in two years to the hospital. She has been accepted into the Albany Medical Center Nursing Program.

Forty-nine Junior Volunteers participated in the program, held at the hospital. Guest speaker Joan M. Coughlin, vice president, administration, spoke of the hospital's appreciation of volunteer workers.

The Junior Volunteers are sponsored by the St. Francis Hospital Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. Thomas Spellman president.

The request came after numerous persons between the ages of 18 and 21 had filed for public office during the past year, many of them for seats on local school boards.

"You may be certain that not only New York State statutes were reviewed but those of other states, as well as pertinent decisions of the federal courts and those of other states," Lefkowitz said in explaining his opinion that such persons could not hold office.

Lefkowitz said he was one of the first public officials to support the vote for 18-year-olds and that he favors a bill enacted at the last legislative session and now on Governor Rockefeller's desk for action which would lower the qualifications for holding public office to 18 years.

In Ulster County, the issue arose three times in May school board elections, but there were no direct tests of Lefkowitz's ruling.

Edward M. D'Alessio, an 18-year-old student at Ulster County Community College, ran for a seat on the Rondout Valley

Board of Education. The board voted to allow his name to remain on the ballot despite Lefkowitz's ruling but the issue of seating him did not arise as he was defeated 595-422 by Wayne Kelder.

Thomas Keefe, 20, filed for election to the Saugerties school board but the board locked the lever over his name on voting machines after Lefkowitz issued his opinion. Keefe received a scattering of write-in votes and finished last in a six-candidate race for three board seats.

Donald DuBois, an 18-year-old senior at Wallkill High School, ran for the board of education there, but finished second to Richard Barclay in a five-candidate race for one of two vacancies on the board.

And in Red Hook, a high school senior, 18-year-old Christopher Meeley, has announced his intention to seeking a seat on the Board of Education in June 14 elections. He is running against five-year veteran and board vice-president Robert W. Bowman, who is also the mayor of the Village of Red Hook.

Guilty Pair Gets 12 Years

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Howard M. Holder and Lynorr Gershenson were sentenced today up to 12 years in prison for conspiring to murder Holder's wife.

Justice Paul J. Widlitz, who tried the case after the defendants waived a jury, sentenced Holder and Mrs. Gershenson to Nassau Supreme Court. Before pronouncing sentence, Widlitz said he found it "hard to reconcile your training and education with your criminal behavior."

He said the defendants showed "an absolute lack of remorse and conscience."

Mayors Take Stand At Conference

KIAMESHA LAKE — Federal tax deductions for municipal service charges, restoration of cuts in state aid to localities, legislative reform, the Environmental Bond Act of 1972, off track betting and the revision of the state aid formulas for local governments were the subjects dealt with in the resolutions adopted today by the city and village mayors and other municipal officials at the 63rd Annual Meeting of the New York Conference of Mayors and Other Municipal Officials at the Concord Hotel, Kiamasha Lake.

In announcing the adoption of these resolutions, Mayor William A. Valentine, Mayor of the City of Rome, and president of the Conference of Mayors, said that these resolutions which supplement the Conference's Policy Statement represent a step forward for those persons residing in the state's cities and villages, and deserve the fullest consideration by the Congress of the United States, the Governor of the State of New York and the State Legislature.

One of the resolutions points out that many municipalities choose to finance their various municipal services through the imposition of service charges, and that these service charges, unlike the real property tax, are not deductible on the federal tax return.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig, along with City Clerk Louis F. DeCicco, are attending the conference.

City Burglaries Being Probed

KINGSTON — but Mrs. Carpino didn't report the incident to authorities until Sunday when she went to look for a portable radio and found it missing.

The woman also said a radio case and another radio were apparently taken. The radios were valued at $20 each, police reports noted.

Burglaries at the Hub Delicatessen, 728 Broadway, and the Kingston Luggage Co., on Fair Street, were reported to Kingston police today.

Detectives reported entry to the delicatessen was made by breaking glass in a rear door and moving the latch. Missing were five rolls of John F. Kennedy 1964 half dollars, 100 cartons of cigarettes valued at $400, a diamond stickpin worth $200, a man's gold wrist watch valued at $75 and several Churchill memorial coins.

The luggage store was entered through a window. Missing were a black tote bag, an electric clock, a jewelry box and 43 pennies, total value about $125.

A burglary at the home of Mrs. Frances Carpino at 111 West O'Reilly Street was also under investigation today by Kingston Detectives.

Police said entry was made through a rear window of the residence apparently on Friday.

Elizabeth Post Answers Etiquette Questions From Our Readers

Mr. brother is divorced and has three children by his first wife. He has remarried and has the children with him for the day on Sundays. My problem is: When I want the children to visit me during the week, must I invite their mother also? We were not friendly while the marriage lasted. Would it be better to wait for the children to be with their father to ask them over: I do not mean anything formal, just a family get-together.

Mrs. Peterson
Dear Mrs. Peterson:
If you invite the children over during the week, you need not include their mother.

She is no longer a relative of yours, and if you were not friendly before, there is no reason to be friendly now.

However, if you invite the children for a Sunday, you should include your brother and his wife, since that is the only day of the week the children are with them.

Dear Mrs. Post:
Could you please answer this question for me? When a bride-to-be's parents do not approve of the marriage, how should the invitations be written? And how should questions involving this situation be handled?

Lucy
Dear Lucy:
The invitations are sent in your name:
The honour of your presence is requested at the marriage of Miss Lucy Smith
to
Mr. James Brown
etc.

If a godparent or relative other than your father will consent to escort you, he may; if not, you may walk down the aisle alone.

Reply to questions as briefly as possible — "Dad preferred not to escort me, so I asked Uncle Jim." Make as little of it as possible and fewer people will pry into the whys and wherefores.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I never thought the day would come when something in your column would provoke me enough to write to you, but "PERTURBED," who claims that in some small towns hairdressers make as much as $100 a day, so why tip, certainly got my back up.

I have been a hairdresser in Massachusetts and Florida for 12 years and I have yet to find such a place. I've worked in some of the best shops and I was lucky to make ends meet. After working 5½ days, my gross pay was $50 for the week. So you see where I would be without tips from my customers.

We hairdressers pay a lot for our schooling, and today we make less than a girl who has just graduated from high school and takes a secretarial job.

J. P. PLYMOUTH, MASS.

DEAR ABBY: You can tell your hairdresser, Cloyd, that he can move to Duncan, Okla. There are seven beauticians in the shop I go to and they all make at least $90 a day, and $100 on Fridays and Saturdays. And this town has a population of only 25,000.

REGULAR PATRON

DEAR PATRON: I gave Cloyd your message, and he says the hairdresser who takes in that kind of money MUST have a very lucrative sideline.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "PERTURBED," who doesn't think beauticians need tips, to come off it. There are some jobs that wouldn't be worth a plug nickel without the tips. Waiting on tables is one, and hairdressing is another.

BEEN BOTH

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from "PERTURBED" who says beauty operators don't need "tips" because they make so much money, I had to write:

I wish "PERTURBED" could be a hairdresser for just eight hours. She'd find out what it's like to keep on schedule with clients calling and begging to be worked in on a Friday afternoon. Also, trying to be pleasant to a different person every 20 minutes when your feet are killing you and you are half dead.

No beauty operator I ever knew could cut the mustard without tips. I don't care where she works.

Pearl Flattery

Falatter your pearls toned to your color type. The Cultured Pearl Association gives these guidelines. The pale pink "rose" shades are suggested for blondes. Creamy tones are best for brunettes, the silver or brush hues for gray-haired women and the deeper "Champagne" tones are unusually striking against darker skins. To see the nuances in color, examine several strands together under natural light and against a white surface.

Mike Ferraro Day at Yankee Stadium, Aug. 13

KINGSTON
Mike Ferraro, the American League's leading third baseman with a .305 average, will be honored with a day at Yankee Stadium on Sunday, Aug. 13.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig today announced that he will be designating Aug. 13 as Mike Ferraro Day in the City of Kingston in recognition for his outstanding achievements in professional baseball.

Mayor Koenig said he will name a committee to coordinate plans to honor the Milwaukee Brewer third baseman, who has played brilliantly during the past three weeks to nail down a starting position at third base.

Ferraro will be honored between games of the doubleheader between the Yankees and Brewers.

Co-sponsors for Mike Ferraro Day will be the Chamber of Commerce. An open meeting will be held Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the General Sharp Room in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

"All baseball fans and friends of Mike Ferraro who are interested in serving as a member of this committee, are invited to attend the meeting," said Mayor Koenig. "We hope to make this a memorable day not only for Mike but for baseball in general for the City of Kingston.

Robert O. (Bob) Fishel, vice president in charge of public relations for the New York Yankees, has promised the complete cooperation of the Yankees.

"I have known Mike for a long time, of course," said Fishel, "and we are very happy to join in this recognition for him."

Although Yankee officials have not committed themselves at this stage, there is a distinct possibility that the Ferraro Day ceremonies will get some television exposure. Mayor Koenig's steering committee is scheduled to meet with Yankee officials next week to iron out the details.

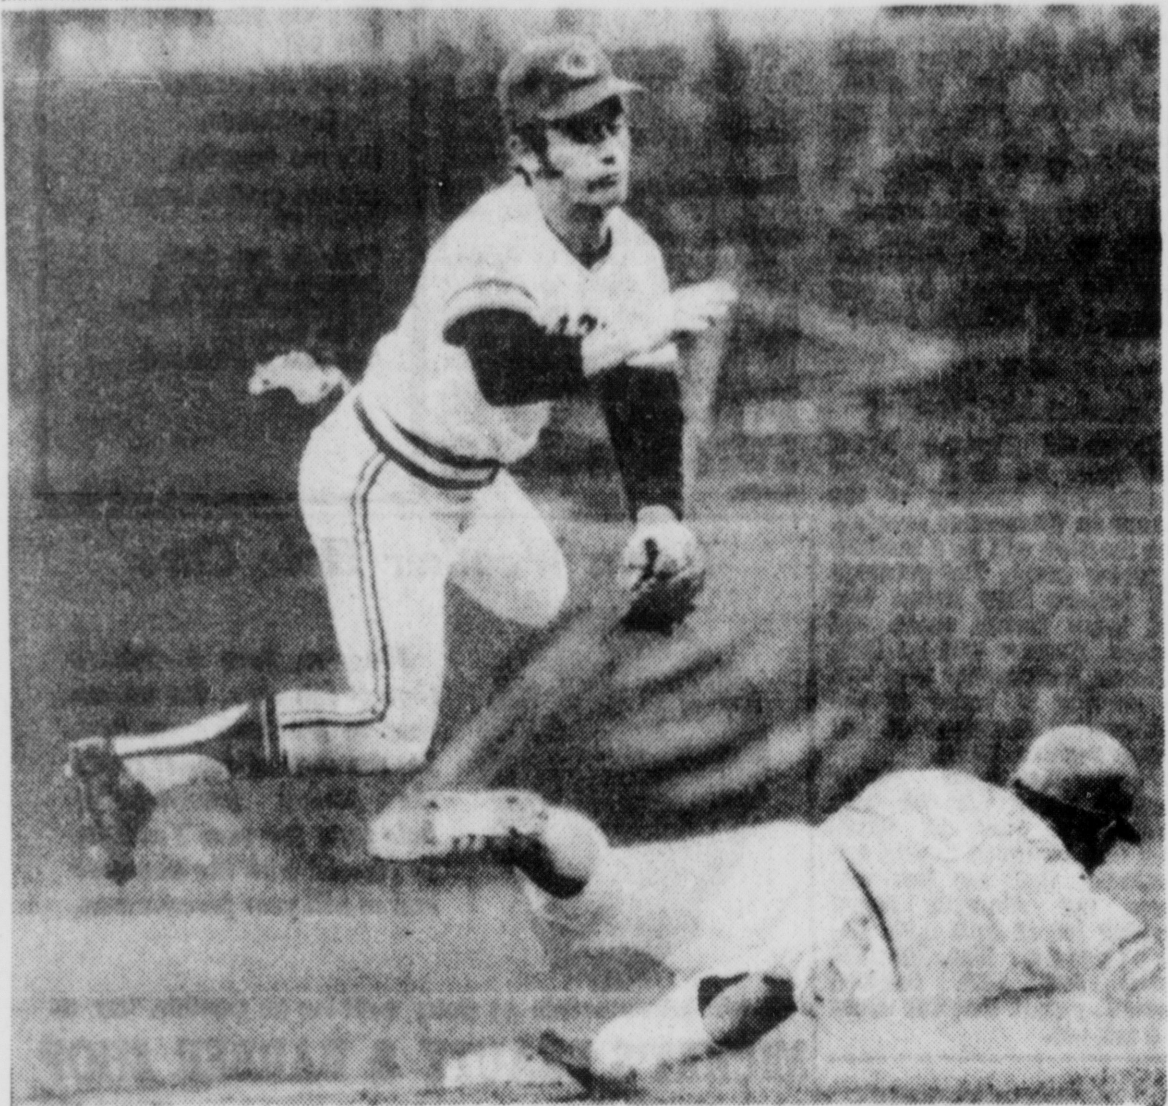

Ferraro, a four-time International League All-Star third baseman with Syracuse and Rochester and "Silver Glove" winner as the top fielding third baseman in the minor leagues in 1971, went to the Brewers in a trade during the off season.

Although he had a fine spring training season, Ferraro did not open at third base for the Brewers. He appeared five times as a pinch hitter before then Manager Dave Bristol started him.

Since taking over the Brewers' third base spot on a regular basis, Ferraro has been something of a sensation. Through Sunday's games, he was batting .305 with 25 hits in 82 times at bat. He had scored six runs and collected eight doubles, a triple, one homer and knocked in seven runs.

Orioles' Sluggers In Quite a Slump

BALTIMORE (AP) — Not even extra batting practice, spectacles for Boog Powell, or the arrival of usually friendly Minnesota pitching could snap the Baltimore hitting slump.

Instead, the Orioles once again surrendered rather meekly at the plate Monday night as the Twins won 3-2 on a sixth inning double by Bobby Darwin.

The victory ended a four-game Minnesota losing streak and enabled the Twins to slip into second place in the American League West, five percentage points ahead of the idle Chicago White Sox.

Both Minnesota and Chicago are four games behind the surging Oakland Athletics, who topped the sagging Cleveland Indians 3-2 on the 10th inning home run by Campy Campaneris in the only other major league game played Monday.

One other scheduled game, Pittsburgh at San Diego in the National League, was postponed by rain.

Manager Earl Weaver of the Orioles, at a loss to explain Baltimore's .220 team batting average as compared with last season's league-leading .261 mark, ordered batting practice

Monday morning.

Against Minnesota starter Dick Woodson, 4-3, and ace reliever Wayne Granger, however, the Orioles managed just five hits and two of those were bunts. Last season, Baltimore hit an amazing 312 against Minnesota pitching.

Veteran Brooks Robinson did slam his first home run of the season, in his 158th trip to the plate.

The Orioles have now lost six of their last seven games to fall 3½ games behind Detroit in the American League East.

Powell's, Baltimore's erstwhile slugging first baseman with a .152 average, was hitless in three trips to the plate Monday. He wore glasses for the first time on one at bat, and struck out.

In Cleveland, the homer by Campaneris extended Oakland's winning streak to four and dealt the Indians their 10th loss in 12 games.

Reggie Jackson hit a two-run homer for the A's, giving him the league lead with 11, while Eddie Leon's homer tied the score for Cleveland in the eighth, 2-2.

John "Blue Moon" Odom, who needed help from Darold

Knowles for the final out, was the winner and is now 3-1. The loser was the Cleveland workhorse, Gaylord Perry, 9-4.

Section III Takes Team Title

Liberty's Yaun Wins State Golf

By STEVE KANE

PINE PLAINS
Rad Yaun, Liberty High's brilliant sophomore golfer, defeated Dave Worden of Section IV's Winsor High on the first hole of a sudden death playoff at the All American Country Club Monday to win the New York State High School Golf Championship.

Yaun and Worden each finished the regulation 36 holes deadlocked at 152, six over par on the demanding 7325-yard "Giant Equalizer" of ice cream magnate Tom Carvel. On the first hole of the playoff, the two golfers 37th of the day, Yaun hit a soft nine-iron to the back on the green after a massive three-wood off the tee. He got down in two to beat Worden's bogey.

In sectional competition, Section III squeezed out a narrow one stroke victory over Section II. The winning six-man total was 985, Union Endicott High School from Section IV took the team championship with a 666 score over runnerup Niskayuna High of Section II.

Yaun was the leader at the turn with a morning round of 74. While most shooters in the field of over 100 high school competitors were having trouble with the soggy course, it took until the closing holes for problems to catch up to Yaun. On the sixteenth, a long but not difficult par five, his second shot came up in poor lie that caused a bogey and forced the playoff with Worden who closed in 74.

Steve Dropkin, the Section IX champ from Pearl River, staged a fine 72 in his final round to finish one stroke behind the leaders at 153. Other good scores came from Section XI's Jack McGowan with 154 and Jim Hart with 155 from Section IV.

After his star's playoff win, George Hansen, Liberty golf coach said: "If you think you're sweating, just look at me."

But there was little perspiration visible on the brow of Yaun. "I think the course has a while to go yet," he commented, referring to the high fairways and a few unfinished traps.

Worden hit first in the sudden death and left his drive to the right with a sidehill lie. "I used the three wood just to keep it in the fairway," said Yaun. But on the 425-yard hole, his shot landed within a nine of the pin.

Worden's second shot was underclubbed, and his 12-foot attempt at a half died at the cup.

Local entries, especially from

Section I, also had some disappointments. Chip Roe, the Arlington High ace, and Brad Davis of John Jay both ended up at 167, well back in the pack.

Davis' score came on the strange combination of 92-75. "I was all over the place on that first round, especially on 18," the Patriot linkster said.

"I was in the woods, and out-of-bounds, then in the water. I took a 10."

The only other UCAL golfer in the tournament was Ellenville's Jon Berger who placed fourth in the Section IX scoring with 170.

The sectional race was tight throughout the tournament. Section XI placed third only four shots off the pace, while two back was Section IX at 991.

Team scores were more spread out with Notre Dame of Utica third at 682, Tappan Zee, Section IX's representative, in at 691, and Half Hollow Hills from Section XI fifth with 704. Other teams competing were Hewlett (Sect. VIII) 713 and Morian (Sect. VII) 776.

All but two of the state's high school districts were present. Section V from the Rochester area, and Section X, the northernmost division. Sections I and VI did not enter teams.

The tournament marked a resumption of a state-wide competition after a two-year hiatus.

New NHL Teams Draft Today

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Atlanta Falcons and the New York Islanders, the National Hockey League's two newest clubs, lay the foundations for the teams they will ice in the 1972-73 season today during the second day of the annual NHL meetings.

In today's expansion draft, the two clubs can select 21 players each from the established team's unprotected lists and later in the inter-league draft they can claim any player on American or Western Hockey League reserve lists, regardless of ownership or playing rights.

The 14 established clubs have waived their rights to claim in these proceedings in favor of Atlanta and Long Island.

While the 14 other NHL teams have stepped aside for the two new clubs, the general managers of the two expansion clubs are worried, however, that they can lose drafted players to the World Hockey Association.

Many players on the established clubs already are under WHA contract with multi-year deals and several players left unprotected are reportedly signed with teams in the new league.

"Naturally I am concerned about the WHA," said Islanders' General Manager Bill Torrey.

"We could lose players that have already signed with that league and I really feel that the NHL should offer us some protection in that direction."

He added, "I'll go to court if necessary to get the players that I choose in the expansion draft."

Cliff Fletcher, Atlanta general manager, said he is equally determined to fight the WHA if it attempts to take away any of his drafted players.

"If I want a player and he's already signed with the WHA, I'm going to pick him up anyway. We'll negotiate with him and we'll wait for two years if we have to. We'll fight it out in court, do anything that has to be done," he said.

NHL President Clarence Campbell has been brief in his comments on the threat of the WHA, stating only that "the 14 existing teams will not be held responsible for providing replacements."

The opening day of the annual NHL get-together Monday was unexciting with six players changing teams at the price of $40,000 apiece.

The Vancouver Canucks selected Boston's Don Kannahill and Gerry O'Flaherty of the Toronto Maple Leafs. To keep their roster at 18 men, the Canucks were forced to drop Ron Ward, who already has signed with the New York Raiders of the WHA.

The Los Angeles Kings chose Detroit Red Wing forward Doug Volmar and Chicago's Barry Long, who played last year with Portland of the WHL.

In picking up Long, the Kings dropped forward Bill Orban and the Black Hawks used their option to select him for $30,000, returning him to the team with which he broke into the NHL several years ago.

A player exchange took place when Montreal failed to protect Larry Pleau and he was snapped up by Toronto. The Leafs then dropped defenseman Brad Selwood, who was scooped by the Canadiens for $30,000.

Both Pleau and Selwood already have signed WHA contracts with the New England Whalers.

The Buffalo Sabres picked up Tim Horton, the 42-year-old veteran defenseman, from the Pittsburgh Penguins. Horton had announced earlier this year he was retiring from hockey to devote more of his time to his business interests.

Sabres' General Manager George "Punch" Imlach, who coached Horton when he was with the Maple Leafs, declined to tell newsmen he had spoken with him earlier.

Imlach did say, however, "I'm 90 per cent sure that Horton will want to play for me. I've always said there's no player like an experienced old pro and Horton's a real great one."

One minor rule change was added Monday by the rules committee, giving a player a two-minute minor penalty for using an illegal stick. A player also will receive a $200 fine and any team making a false claim against a player can be nicked $100.

The penalty time keeper will be in charge of measuring sticks with blade restrictions now between two and three inches at the width. Only one stick can be measured at a time.

Mantle Places

Situation Wanted

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — For 18 years, Mickey Mantle kept busy knocking out homers and breaking batting marks for the New York Yankees.

Now Mantle says he's not busy anymore and no one will give him what he really wants. "I don't really have a job," Mantle said Monday. "I'm not doing much of anything. We have real estate, public relations. I go to spring training every year with the Yankees."

Mantle said he would be particularly receptive to a managing offer.

"If I was offered a good deal, I would consider it," he said. "Baseball is all I have ever known. I tried working a month as a coach with the Yankees. I didn't like that too much."

Alsdorf No-Hitter

KINGSTON Ray Alsdorf of the Jaycee Little League Eagles pitched a no-hitter to beat the Hawks. 6-1. His teammate, Tony Grimaldi, fired his third 1-hitter of the season to shut out the Owls 8-0. The two wins gave the Eagles a perfect 8-0 record in the Jaycee League. Dean Winchell and Jim Farrell had single-double combinations against the Owls. Grimaldi doubled against the Hawks. Kirk Jacobs of Town of Ulster Conti Explosive Indians pitched a 2-hitter and slammed two singles and a double to pace his team to an 18-0 rout of American Legion Braves. The scores: TOWN OF ULSTER Conti Explo. Indians, 382 41—18 12 Amer. Legion Braves 000 00—0 2 Kirk Jacob and Dan Hatt; Steve Herzog, Mike Swanson, Jim Dixon and Keith Newkirk, Jack Fortner. (Pitching summaries not reported.) I—Jacob, 2 singles, double, 2-hitter; Dan Hatt, 2 singles. B—Steve Herzog, both Legion hits.

Eric Evans Captures Kayak Race

PHOENICA Eric Evans is a Dartmouth senior who currently holds the national kayak racing title. And before a huge crowd Sunday at the Esopus River Rapids, Evans proved his quality by outclassing the K-1 field which also included a former national champion.

Evans completed his run through the gate in 196.6 seconds to finish nearly 11 seconds ahead of runnerup Dave Benham of the Scudder Falls White Water Club who was locked in 207.5 seconds. Evans was part of a winning team.

Les Bechdel of the Cochituate Canoe Club of Boston placed third in 216 seconds. Evans has been racing since he was 15 and at age 17 represented the United States in the World Championships in France and placed 10th in the international races at Merano, Italy in 1971.

Bechdel is a former U.S. champion in K-1, who has appeared in two World Cup races—at Lipno, Czechoslovakia and Spitel, Austria. Sandy Morrison of the Minnesota Canoe Association captured the C-1 (1-Man Canoe) race in 233 seconds, 2.4 seconds faster than runnerup John Burton of the Philadelphia Canoe Club.

John Burton and Tom Spithworth of Pennsylvania Canoe Club teamed to win the 2-Man canoe event in 226 seconds. Norm and Louise Holcombe of Penn State Outing Club took the Mixed Canoe feature in 272.5 seconds.

The water conditions on the Esopus drew unstinting praise from the 134 competitors representing 23 clubs.

"The Esopus race is a genuinely fine race," said Jay Evans of the Ledyard Club who is the United States Olympic team coach. "This is a well established white water program." Evans said he was pleased with the water conditions and expects to keep sending U.S. Olympic hopefuls to the Phoenicia stream.

The results:

Cordt's Stop Shamrock's

KINGSTON Just when the Shamrock looked like it was going to score a tight City Slow Pitch C Division win Monday night, Cordts spoiled things with a five-run seventh to come away with a 6-3 triumph.

In other games, the Road Runners crushed Dedrick's, 15-5; Rite Cleaners whipped Alpine, 12-5; Rolling Acres trimmed Rotron, 11-4; and Kingston Hospital destroyed the Daily Freeman, 18-0.

Shamrock was clinging to a slim 3-1 lead as Cordts came to bat in the top of the seventh, however the "visitors" rose to the late challenge with the surge that gave it the win.

Tom Alecca tripped for the winners and Mike Malano doubled. Jack Haber slashed a two-bagger for Shamrock.

Gordon Stoutenburg's bases loaded home run, one of three hits he mustered for the evening, was the big blow in the Road Runners win over Dedrick's. Paul Richers also homered and tripled while John Olsen lined four hits including a triple. Bob Doran slammed three hits as well. Bill Sheeley and Skip Steinkle each reached base safely twice for Dedrick's.

Rite Cleaners overcame a 4-0 first inning deficit by scoring six in the second and adding to it to beat Alpine. Levi Shaffer's three hits paced the winners. The Alpine had long ball power from Bob Dunn and Dan Donahue, both with triples, but it wasn't enough.

Rolling Acres scored seven runs in its last two times up to turn around its game with Rotron. Rick Kahil led the way with three hits while Randy Fury tripled and Dan Merser and Don Patton doubled. Rotron received offensive support in the way of doubles from Bob Sleight, Jay Patel, and Steve Mercer.

The Daily Freeman suffered its second straight demoralizing defeat, this time due to the heavy hitting of Kingston Hospital and plenty of defensive lapses. The winners slugged four triples—two by Jim Williams and one each by Pete Tomaszewski and Mike Droulette—and four doubles—by Dennis Pitcock, Bob Hoffman, Bill Reid, and Tomaszewski—in a game which was mercifully stopped after two and a half innings. Tomaszewski also added a single for a three-for-three night.

Don Yonta blasted a triple and Ira Fufeld sliced a single for the Freeman. Unfortunately the hits were in separate innings.

Babe Ruth Seniors Open Play at Dietz

KINGSTON The Senior Babe Ruth League season opened at Dietz Stadium Monday with some high school rivalry favoring the 4-2 victory of Sickler's—Kingston Trust over Rock Construction. In regular Babe Ruth action, the Vols topped the Kiwanis 3-0.

Duane Carey, who handled the receiving chores for the Coleman Statesmen this year, doubled and knocked in two runs to power Sickler's over the 17-strikeout pitching of Kingston High's Bob Marz. Vince Rua, with 13 K's, notched the win for Sickler's.

Rock Construction took a one-run lead in the fourth when Chuck Bouton singled in Marz and Don Miller. The rally overcame a single Sickler tally in the first. Marz hit safely to start the uprising, but those were the only hits Rua surrendered in the game.

Carey hit his game-winner in the sixth, and the Sickler squad added an insurance run in the seventh.

An error by the second baseman on a hit-and-run play set up a two-run third inning for the Vols as they coasted to victory on Dan Brown's two-hitter.

The miscue put Ed Glynn on third and Brown on second before Dave Kronick blasted a base-clearing double.

Brown, the winner with 14 strikeouts, bested Kevin Coughlin who also gave up only two hits.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

HOME DATES: (Q.) I finally got my dad to let me date at home. But my boy friend won't come over unless I ask him. The problem is that my dad and I have a disagreement. He thinks it's the boy's place to ask. I think it is all right for me to ask him, as long as he is just going to visit me.—15½ in North Carolina

(A.) You can ask him over, or he can ask to come over. If you do the asking do not appear too eager and do not ask too often.

EYE APPEAL: (Q.) My eyes have become very puffy, especially underneath I always had pretty eyes until about a year ago, but now I look like a creep.

Please suggest something I can do.—Girl, Age 14, in New York State

(A.) Eye tendencies such as yours are sometimes inherited, and the puffs begin to show up in the teen years. This would seem to be your situation. Your family doctor or eye doctor can tell you for sure.

If this is the case, your answer is interesting make-up above your eyes to draw attention there. Darker shades of mascara and eye shadow are often effective. Highlights of a paler shade can be used under the eyes.

Dramatic-appearing glasses will also help. If it is not an inherited trait, you may have an infection, from make-up or some other cause. Your doctor can advise you about that.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001.)

Monty Hall Has Busy Show

NEW YORK (AP) — "The American fiesta, complete with tacos and occasional oles and even a stuffed bull, which gave Hall a chance to dress up like a matador and stamp around in a little dance with the natives in their colorful costumes.

There were quick cuts from scene to scene, some primitive comedy by Fred Smoot, and a very cooperative attitude by Cass Elliot who, given a chance, might have been funny and even without a chance, sounded great in her musical numbers.

Hall's first musical variety special had everything from a facsimile of a Mexican and it apparently was shot almost entirely on location. And it was probably all pretty wonderful fun for Monty Hall fans.

The television networks will, for the most part, start the third- or summer-season with the premiere of CBS's "Melba Moore-Clifton Davis Show," first of eight new programs which will be coming along on the three networks during the next two months.

Before the season starts, it seems to have been the victim of tough competition—NBC's "Bonanza" and ABC's movie broadcast. A contemporary western, it had Ford's believable characterization of a calm and tired sheriff in a big, violent county, and rather believable scripts. In a better time slot, it might have been turned for a second season.

We are indebted to Eddy Kantar and the American Contract Bridge League Bulletin for today's hand.

South has a real problem at trick one. Which hand you can see that the lead was a singleton and that the winning play is to win in dummy but Kantar points out that lead from queen-jack small or queen-jack two small is more likely than a singleton or doubleton queen. You agree with Eddy and win in your hand.

Then you attack spades. East wins the first spade and leads a heart. West ruffs and returns a club and eventually you have to lose a heart and the ace of diamonds for down one.

Tough luck! Or was it bad play?

Postal Hike... Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service Board of Governors has rejected the rate schedule, an approved about $1.5 billion in action viewed as unlikely. Nevertheless, the new rate which have been in effect on a temporary basis since May 1971.

The effect for most mail on-class rates on a broad users will be to make permanent the 8-cent cost of mail. The commission says it has a letter, and 11 cents for air-mail letters unless the Post-Office Service proposed for the Time, Inc., which publishes publishers and for users of the Time and Life magazines, said the new rates "will drive a number of magazines out of business, force others to cut circulation and therefore decrease the flow of information throughout the country."

Within 30 days the board of governors is expected to act on the proposals which the commission says will save publishers $21.8 million annually over the temporary rates. They expire in 30 days.

The commission replaces Congress as the rate-setting body under the 1970 Postal Reorganization Act, an attempt to put the service on its feet and end recurring deficits.

For second-class mail, the commission recommended a 1.6-cent-per-piece rate instead of the 1.9-cent cost put into effect by the Postal Service temporarily last year.

Killer Satellite Will Be Studied

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Defense Department has decided to study the feasibility of a killer satellite system capable of intercepting, inspecting and destroying hostile space vehicles. The Soviet Union already has demonstrated this capability.

The Air Force space and missile systems organization in Los Angeles asked industry on May 26 to submit proposals on the system. At least three companies are expected to be selected to conduct competitive studies.

If defense officials decide on the basis of the studies to develop a satellite destroyer, it is believed subsystem testing could start next year, aiming for a test launch in 1975 or 1976.

If interceptor satellites are built, they would be able to fly alongside an alien spacecraft, determine its assignment and, if necessary, disable or destroy it.

Destruction could be effected by some sort of a "death ray," perhaps a laser beam; by signals that would disrupt the payload's electronics, or by blowing up the American satellite, destroying both payloads.

Satellite explosion is the technique used by the Russians. Since 1968, the Soviets have successfully demonstrated their spacecraft killer system at least seven times, according to U.S. sources.

These sources say the successful tests involved 12 separate launches of Cosmos satellites. Five were target satellites and seven were pursuit payloads that flew near their quarry. After an inspection, five of the interceptors blew apart on radio signal from the ground.

When President Nixon and Soviet Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev signed the nuclear arms limitation treaty last month, they said on-site inspection was not necessary, that spy satellites could do the job.

The Soviet Union has an operational space weapon the United States does not possess — the fractional orbital bombardment system (FOBS). In several tests in recent years the Soviets have demonstrated

Quick Action On Debt Limit

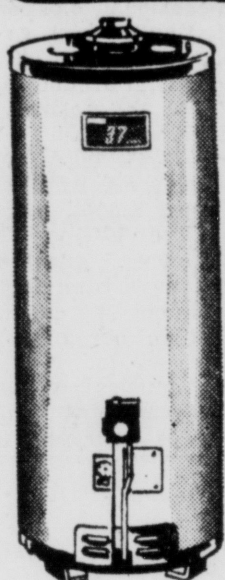

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax-reform advocates who want to tie loophole-closing provisions to an urgently requested bill raising the national debt ceiling make their move today before the House Ways and Means Committee.

The tax-writing committee is divided on the issue. It received a strong plea Monday from the Nixon administration to push through the legislation increasing the borrowing limit $15 billion, to $465 billion, quickly and without complications.

The Treasury will run out of borrowing power July 1 unless legislation is passed by Congress by then, threatening to halt government operations.

Committee chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., also favors consideration of the debt ceiling legislation without tax reform additions. He has introduced a bill that would open up most tax advantages in the revenue code for review by proposing their gradual repeal.

The Connally Trip... Rumor Mills Grind

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the Republican convention little more than two months away, President Nixon has stoked speculation about his 1972 running mate by sending John Connally around the world.

Indications from the White House that Connally might also be explaining to world leaders the President's Peking and Moscow trips add to the importance of the trip and to the outgoing Treasury secretary's stature as bearer of such news. This is the kind of mission traditionally handled by a vice president if not a secretary of state. The Washington rumor mills have Connally available for either post if Nixon is re-elected. Regardless, the trip will give Connally public exposure in the foreign-policy arena. Among his stops will be South Vietnam.

Nixon's announcement Monday that Connally will represent him on a 15-nation tour beginning today came a day after another key Republican said it is possible a Democrat, such as Connally, could get the GOP vice-presidential nomination.

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said Sunday in a radio interview that he disagrees with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's assertion that a Democrat on the GOP ticket in his place would be inconceivable.

With the time of decision drawing near, Nixon has never said whether he will keep Agnew as his vice president, and Connally has not definitely been taken out of the picture.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said in Key Biscayne, Fla., that Connally will be ready to take up "any subject which his hosts wish to raise," including Nixon's trips to China and the Soviet Union. The complete itinerary has not been announced. Connally's first stops will be in Venezuela, Colombia, Brazil, Argentina, Bolivia and Peru. To follow will be visits to South Vietnam, Australia, Singapore and New Zealand.

Connally said when he resigned last month that he had no political aspirations, but, when asked about the vice presidency, he ducked "that kind of speculation at this point in time."

Two days later, Agnew said it would be "totally unrealistic to expect the Republican convention to accept" Connally on its national ticket.

The closest Nixon has come to addressing the subject directly was in a television interview last winter when he said he saw no reason to break up a winning combination.

Order of Lenin for Tito

President Tito of Yugoslavia has received a warm welcome and one of the highest Soviet awards—the Order of Lenin—on his first state visit to the Soviet Union in seven years.

Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet Communist party leader, praised the Yugoslav president lavishly during a state banquet tonight in the visitor's honor and ignored the past and continuing differences.

Brezhnev said:

"The Soviet Union greatly appreciates your friendly attitude toward our country and your activities aimed at strengthening friendship" between the two countries.
